I Bled On My Guitar

by StuArt

One 4th of July that I remember with great fondness happened back in the 80's when Dave Sobel ran the Bakery out of the little house on Wharf, before he moved it to the Gibson House. Dave informed me that he was going to enter the bakery van in the 4th of July parade.

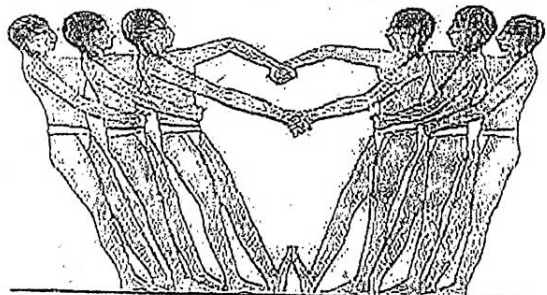

"We'll cover the van with tie dye and American flags," he said. "And there will be counter top cuties handing out kazoos." Dave's eyes glistened as he told me his vision. "So a kazoo orchestra will form behind the van. They'll all play along to the Star Spangled Banner, which you, Stu, will be playing on your electric guitar while standing on the roof of the bakery van."

"What?" I laughed at the crazy idea. But one week later there I was, perched on top of the bakery van with my guitar and a battery powered amplifier.

I had a great view of the lagoon from my perch while Annie Crofts sang the Star Spangled Banner across Wharf Road from the steps of the Marine Biology building.

As Annie sang the anthem I pantomimed her singing on my electric guitar without the amp turned on. No way was I going to hit a wrong note while the Postmistress sang the national anthem. That might be a Federal offense. But I pretended like I was reaching for that high A while standing there atop the bakery van draped with tie dye and American flags. Sharing the roof of the van with me were two bakery girls with baskets of kazoos..

THE PIRATES OF PENZANCE PRESENTED BY THE WEST MARIN PLAYERS

West Marin Players presents for its third production, Gilbert & Sullivan's swashbuckling comedy The Pirates of Penzance. Wacky, irreverent, and as entertaining today as it was when it first opened in 1879. The Pirates Of Penzance is the story of an orphan boy who was mistakenly apprenticed to a pirate instead of a pilot. A hilarious farce featuring sentimental pirates, bumbling policemen, dewy-eyed daughters, and an eccentric Major General, and peppered with unforgettable melodies and tongue-twisting songs, Pirates is one of the most popular operettas ever written.

Dog Days begin/Loki's Brand

The dog days, ruled by the Dog Star, Sirius, called Loki's Brand in the Northern Tradition, begin today. Traditionally, the hottest part of the year.

WEST MARIN all day - peace reigned.

TODAY'S PAPER brought to you by Steve Heilig, and June McAdams, with the essential emergency assistance of Commonwealth for copying. Thanks.

Vote for BOLINAS to be a socially acknowledged nature-loving town

BECAUSE to like to drink the water out of the LAKES to like to eat the raspberries to like the BEARS is not hatred to hotels and motor boats.

DAKAR TEMPORARY and way to save life, skunks and foxes and to make it beautiful.

After Annie sang the parade started and we began to lurch down Wharf. I say lunched because the voluminous tie dye and American flag material kept catching on the tires.

Up on the roof I felt like I was riding a bucking bronco. I braced myself as best I could with my legs spread wide apart in an imitation of Chuck Berry doing the splits. I was trying to play a decent rendition of the Star Spangled Banner and halfway down Wharf I started to play it pretty well. Then my A string broke.

No longer able to play in the key of A, I threw away my flat pick and began to play a fast blues in E with my thumb and forefinger. The noise of the crowd almost drowned out my playing. I realized that the crowd noise was also in the key of E. It was a perfect drone tone for my guitar.

So I skipped notes across the hubbub like skipping rocks across the lagoon. I played like a wild man until the parade ended on Brighton Ave. After we stopped I looked down at my electric guitar. The white pick guard was spattered with droplets of blood. I'd been playing so furiously that I had abraded my forefinger and bled on my guitar.

I marvelled at the moment.

"Blood sacrifice on my guitar in the middle of the Fourth of July parade." I said to myself. "Epic!"

"I'm going to remember this Fourth." I thought as I looked at my blood spattered guitar. "This is going to make a great story 30 years from now: how I bled on my guitar during the 4th of July parade in Bolinas."

WATER CONSERVATION NEEDED NOW!!

PLEASE MAKE EVERY EFFORT TO REDUCE YOUR WATER CONSUMPTION IMMEDIATELY.

After several years of historically low water consumption in the district, we are beginning to see water use rising to alarming levels. During the most recent quarter, consumption rose to the highest level in six years. As we enter the summer season, it is critically important that all customers use their best efforts to reduce their water use immediately.

Please, reduce or eliminate your outdoor watering as soon as possible. Please turn off automatic irrigation systems and hand water only, preferably late in the day or early evening to reduce water loss due to evaporation. Make every effort to use your household appliances such as laundry machines and dishwashers only when you have full loads. Limit the length of showers to a few minutes. Check your toilets and faucets to make sure you do not have any leaks.

Thank you in advance for your conservation efforts. After an unusually dry winter, this water-scarce community will need to do its best to conserve water now to avoid mandatory rationing later in the year. Please call 868-1224 with any questions. Thank you!

'Jugville is ours.'

'...doing to others what we wish they would do to us.'

Dear Friends, above are two quotes from Molly Maguire's recent and all too brief musical theatre piece 'Jugville', based on Bolinas history in the 1870s. Sometimes it is good to remember that we are part of an historical continuum and that others have lived their lives, rich or poor, happy or sad, here, in this place, Bolinas.

Tomorrow we hold our largest public holiday and we all want it to be a good one...

There are many rumors scurrying around town about big changes in the way the day happens. Having not been part of the last year's events leading up to this day, I have talked to many of the people involved.

Coming into the scene now I am unable to understand how we got to this point of so many fine people being hurt and disrespected.

I have great respect and admiration for the people who have quietly done good work for many years to ensure support for the needy of Stinson Beach and Bolinas. I hope that we can all look into the situation; perhaps a town meeting? Meanwhile let us all enjoy Annie Crotts' 66th annual singing of the National Anthem. Forward in all directions!

Have a great Fourth!

Two Holiday Events at Bolinas Museum

July 3rd Benefit Cocktail Party
 Guest of Honor: Ewan Macdonald

Our 3rd of July party is a festive way to begin celebrating the holiday. Drinks, catered food and great company. In the past the party has honored Annie Crotts, Marty Griffin and Vandy Seeburg. This year we honor Ewan Macdonald who has always been generous in supporting his town. But not everyone knows about his biggest gift to the community. In 1988 the buildings that now house Bolinas Museum were empty and rotted. Today's lovely courtyard was swamp full of abandoned junk. The complex of buildings was for sale and most likely destined to be torn down.

But Macdonald saw the importance of preserving these historic buildings and the preserving the continuity of downtown's historic architecture. He purchased the structures and oversaw a massive and careful restoration. The result is the handsome complex of buildings you see today. Many local businesses accepted his offer of office or commercial space including Bolinas Museum. In 1998 generous supporters helped the Museum purchase the complex of historic buildings where everyone is welcome to enjoy the five museum galleries of art, photography and the fascinating history of Bolinas. Join us in thanking him and enjoy a lovely evening event. Wed. July 3rd 5:30-8:00 PM $20 Members / $25 Non-members. Kids free.

30th Anniversary celebration
 Free Old-Fashioned Ice Cream Social
 July 5th at 2 PM in the Museum's courtyard.

This party will honor the visionary leaders and hundreds of volunteers who gave their time, skill and financial support to develop this remarkable fine art and history museum.

Friends are coming from near and far to celebrate including David Van Dusen who, with the help of many friends, established the Bolinas Memorial Museum in 1983 to preserve the history of the town. Joyce Clements will be there too. She brought art into the Museum's Mission Statement and created the Living Artist Project to spotlight the wealth of accomplished Coastal Marin artists.

For the party, Strauss Family Creamery is donating their superb organic ice cream. We will serve ice cream until we run out! Whole Foods donated organic sugar cones and Beth and Rob Setrakian, who own the oldest home in downtown Bolinas, are bringing Beth's Cookies.

WEEKLY WRAP & RECAP 7/1/13

From Jenniepeiffer

July is here with all the attendant preparations for the 4th parade and parties and summer trips and camps. Surf camp started today, with nephews and cousins from the East Bay and beyond, here for three days to get another perspective of ways one can be in the world. Adding 5 boys to our household for three sleepover nights is exciting and is a good way to get a jolt out of a routine life; definitely bigger energy than we normally have around here. The weather is perfect for such an activity and summer is definitely upon us.

Last evening was the second of two showings of "Jugville: the Musical", Molly Maguire's productions of her original musical play about a time in the 1800's when Bolinas was called "Jugville" because of all the saloons in town. This was the culmination of a kid's music camp, and all the young thespians did a beautiful job. Molly and the other trained pros that worked with this production, Bill Quist on piano, and Howard Dillon, Charlie Morgan, Rana Kangas-Kent, and Giovanni Di Morente, were all stellar, and Mollie Lounibos did an excellent job on sets, with Sakaia Brendel keeping it flowing as stage manager. Congratulations all.

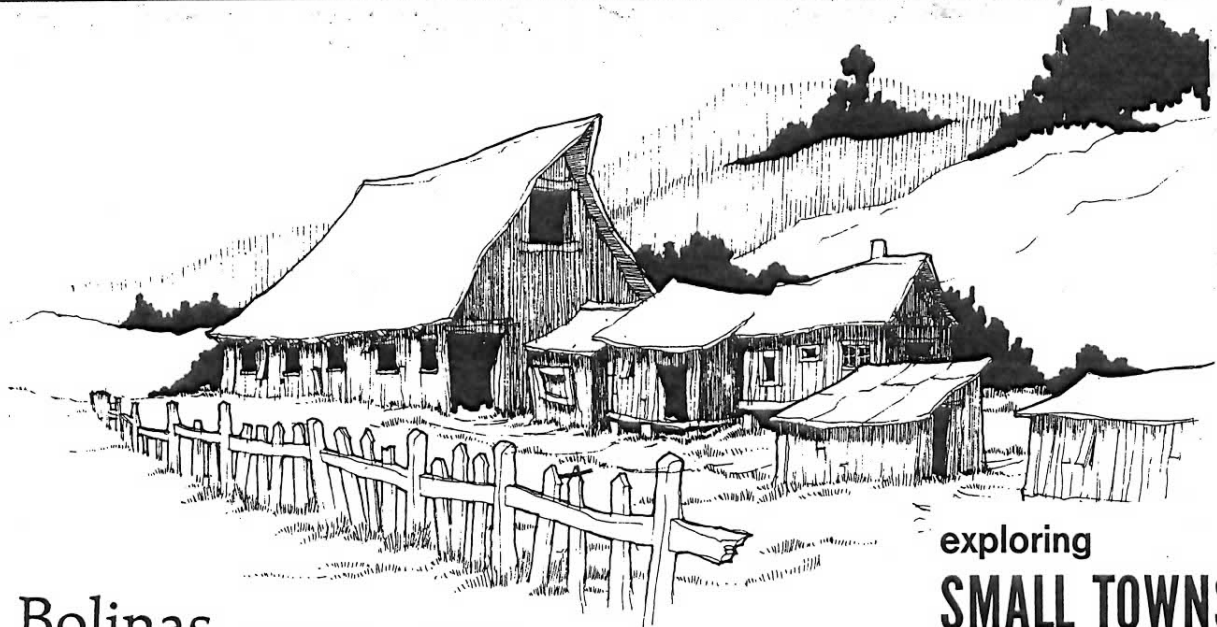

Thanks to Anthony Stewart for all the beautiful and thoughtful preparations for the Bolinas Family Reunion. I love that he celebrates out returning young people in that way.

Bolinas OLD BARN • BOLINAS

THE SAD STORY OF CAPTAIN EASKOOT

The quiet, almost hidden community of Bolinas has more than its fair share of legendary folk figures. One of the most distinguished is Captain Easkoot—or rather, the ghost of Captain Easkoot. He lived in the huge white mansion which overlooks the Bay. Following the premature death of his wife and a traumatic incident in which her coffin was washed out to sea by an unusually high flood tide as it was being taken to the cemetery, the Captain became an embittered man. His ire was increased by the fact that his hook-hand (all notorious captains seem to have one!) disappeared during the funeral wake. He spent the rest of his life chasing innocent travellers away from the bay which he considered to be his property and, even now on stormy nights, his ghost haunts the town looking for the lost hand.

During the 1850's Bolinas was a major logging center for San Francisco. Although over 15 million feet of lumber was felled in the area, the town's prosperity dwindled with the demise of the gold rush. Subsequent periods of potato farming, coal, copper, oil and asbestos mining, shipbuilding and even rum-running and opium smuggling were all shortlived. The bay became silted and Bolinas never grew.

BOLINAS MAIN STREET

The rest of the Fourth of July week went smoothly, and after the barbecue, a few people greeted him on the beach when they walked their dogs. No one focused on him unduly, tried to take his picture, or called the press. They were more respectful than that, and he just disappeared into the woodwork in Bolinas like everyone else. If he had looked for a place to hide out, he couldn't have found a better one.

Seeing time leap forward we fall and get back up, fly on thoughts of golden light feather eye lid, winged step rosy cheek for a flash then a cool
ocean dream
your thought my thought,
seems to drift like the mist over mesas
across landscapes of what we drempt, washed away with the tides....
but something remains...
with the charm of love in ones own heart
a rare charm-unreplicated, is your hearts song
