Come Eat, Dance and Be Merry!

We are so fortunate!

Our beach is at the heart of Bolinas. It's a place where we can be with nature and experience the deep connection between ourselves, the earth, the sea and the sky. There our spirits can soar, our souls set sail. A place where we can find inspiration, write, compose poems, songs, music. Artists bring their easels, mothers bring their babies. A place where we can pray, mourn, cry, be alone, feel deeply our humanity. We go there to be in the sun, to play, to relax, to walk, to be with friends, to be with our thoughts. We go there for so many reasons.

It is always changing. Sometimes storms blow so raw and powerful no one could survive there. Other times it is soft, sweet and warm. It is bigger than we are—sometimes we need to be put in our place. A gale can blow and batter the beach while we huddle in our houses. After it passes we can venture out to find the beach transformed by unimaginable power, leaving a stage set by nature. The beach is a place we can go to get away from the hustle and bustle of humanity, where we can breathe deeply: be inspired. There each of us can have our own thoughts, reflections, our own experience.

The beauty and the magic of the beach is that it is washed clean every day: surfaces scrubbed, the air fresh, the stage set anew.

I want to express my appreciation and gratitude to the people who are helping to preserve and protect our beautiful, natural beach.

Gather. Explore. Play!

High School Day at Bolinas Stinson Youth Group! We had a head's up the Bolinas School BBQ was happening and it was special to have just the 'elders' for a gorgeous afternoon of team games, homework and delicious Parkside food.

We circled up in the lawn and attempted a ladies vs gents game of G.O.D.D.E.S.S. Inevitably the ball flew into the bushes more times than not, but our skill building attempts were full of laughter and we played many rounds, Kaydon being the favorite recipient to peg. Heidi remarked she had a rare inclination to be active all afternoon. Even when the beach sunset beckoned, the group was so content to stay and soak up the beauty and ease of our spot in the park. Zookeeper on the basket ball court had Oscar playing a Liger and Ian playing Oscar; everyone trying to find the most unique creatures to fool the zookeeper. Glow worms, seahorses, and even a nudibranch. A sweet surprise to find the new art exhibit at the Library to be an impressive collection of homemade nudibranchs! The mature group was happily occupied for our study hour. Kerry shared oceanic posters that will be used to decorate the reading room.

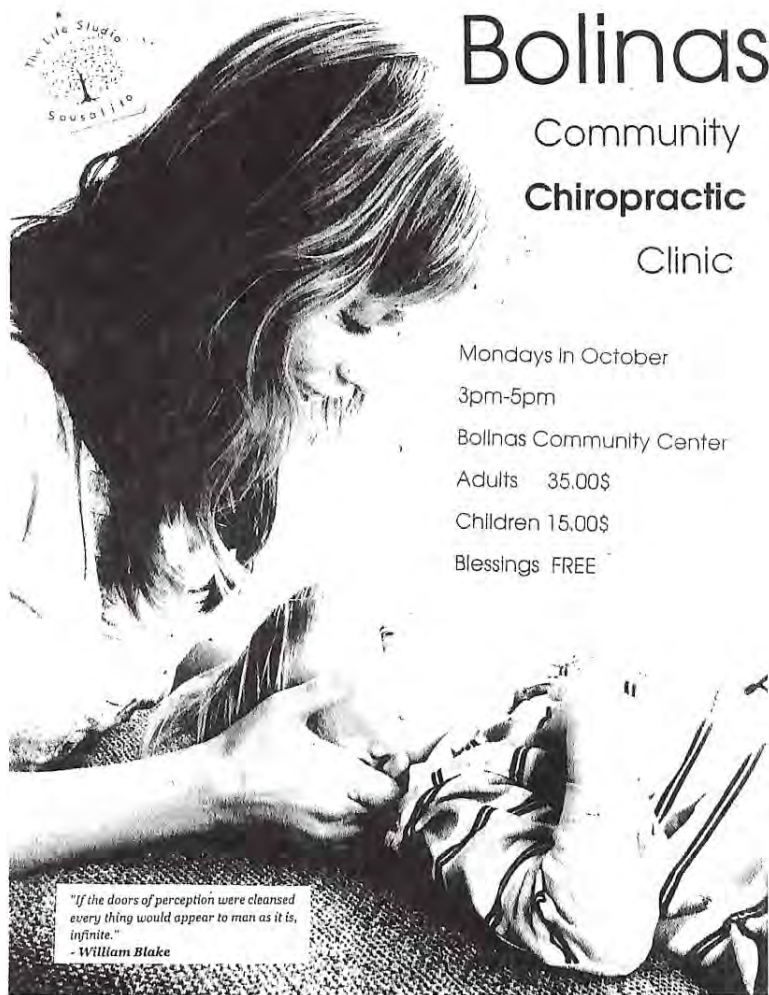

Council with pizza was a simple rose and thorn. Sharing a positive and negative experience we had over the weekend. Ball tag on the playground concluded in darkness. As everyone boarded the Stage, reminders were shouted out that we have no YG next week due to teacher meetings.

KNOW YOUR BO

In the 1850's, San Francisco was booming and so was its appetite for eggs. Not just hens but gulls and even murre eggs from the Farallon Islands. In two days in 1853, one boat gathered 120,000 eggs from the Farallons and took them to the city where they sold for a dollar a dozen. By 1856, between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 eggs had gone to San Francisco, prompting the formation that year of the Farallon Egg Company. 25,000 dozen of the "beautifully spotted and colored" eggs were collected annually until their collecting was prohibited in 1903. The Farallons became a bird preserve in 1909 under the Light House Service (now the Coast Guard).

The California Department of Food & Agriculture (CDFA) Draft Statewide Pest Programmatic Environmental Impact Report (Pest PEIR) authorizes the state to spray pesticides anywhere, any time, for any pest, into the infinite future.

If the Pest PEIR is approved, there will be nothing that we can do to stop state pesticide spraying in our communities.

- Threat to human & environmental health, including honeybees:
 The PEIR would permanently eliminate less-toxic, non-pesticide, and organic options for state pest management. It allows spraying at schools and fails to adequately analyze pesticide impacts on children and other sensitive individuals such as the chronically ill. Its 79 pre-approved pesticides are linked to cancer, birth defects, reproductive system damage, and extreme toxicity to bees, other pollinators, fish, other aquatic life, birds, and mammals.
- Threat to organic farming. Organic farms could be forced to spray non-organic PEIR pesticides and lose their organic certification. The PEIR disregards the economic and environmental impacts of forced spraying on organic farms, stating that organic farmers will not be harmed because they can simply sell sprayed crops as conventional produce.
- Expansion of spraying with no public notice or input. The PEIR allows CDFA to add new chemicals, new treatment locations, and new target pests behind closed doors with no way for us to know about or challenge these decisions. Approval of the PEIR would set a precedent for sweeping, unchecked power by state agencies in matters involving human and environmental health.
