Great things about everyone staying home

1. No chem trails; the sky is beautifully clear
2. The air smells better than ever, really fresh and cooler
3. Parking is available everywhere downtown (Though I haven't used my car since this began)
4. No rushing anymore, plenty of time
5. Quiet, quiet, quiet. It's as good as Christmas morning

—Kathleen O'Neill

This was sent to me by a friend. I was told “the original poem is by Michael Mead but the last four lines or so have been slightly changed in some wording but not in meaning or essence, just slightly rearranged”. So there you have it. It has been changed to suit the one who sent it to me. So, I guess this is an adaptation of M. Mead’s poem, by someone who wishes to remain Anon. Even so, I thought it worth sharing, as it spoke so strongly to me. Perhaps we can all make our own adaption that speaks most closely to us. I liked this version as received and wanted to share it.

Do Not Abandon Your Soul

If we do not abandon our Soul
We do not abandon the World
For what changes the Soul
Also change our Earth/World
So walk carefully
For what Soul/World needs right now
Is deep dark love and total surrender
To who and what we were meant to be Another Species
Not the Ruler of this place
Not for training and improving
This World/Earth
But a Caregiver
Start there.
Be guided by your Soul and its steady voice within
Be still and listen to it's deep dark wisdom
It will guide you home to this World/Earth
And your true Self

Dear Community,

The BCLT has set up a COVID-19 Disaster Relief Fund. We are accepting donations and applications. The initial fundraising period will be open until 4/10/20. Will we be dispersing funds to those in need no later than 4/15/20. We will continue fundraising as needed in the coming months.

This fund was the brainchild of one of our weekend residents, in an effort to show their support and appreciation for the Bolinas community. Their hope was to be able to help our downtown businesses, the self-employed and individuals in need of rent relief make it through this difficult time. We are extremely grateful for this individual’s determination and tireless participation over the last few weeks helping us craft this fund and for fundraising to make it come alive from idea to community resource.

We have also been granted rent relief funds for Bolinas, Stinson and Muir Beach residents through Measure W. In addition, we are working on getting more funds through grants allocated specifically to help support our Latinx community, and will be looking into more grant opportunities as needed.

During this uncertain time, we can be sure of something, we have a community to be proud of. People of all ages, backgrounds, residential status and income levels have stepped up to help one another. From food giveaways to individual donations of rent support, from checking in with our neighbors to protecting our town entrance, people are showing up. This fund and all these acts of kindness and bravery are something to remind us that we are all in this together, full-time residents, weekenders, the elders and the youth. We are the Bolinas community and we show up for each other when times are tough.

Please visit our website to make a donation, to find applications and information about the fund.

This funds effectiveness will be directly dependent on how many donations we receive and how many applications are submitted. If you can, please consider a donation today!

Thank you to everyone who has given so far and has yet to give. Thank you to everyone for looking out for one another. Stay safe.

With love,
The BCLT Team - Your community land trust

Bay Area Health Officers Issue Updated Stay-at-Home Order; Marin Releases Updated Parks Closure Order

San Rafael, CA — Health officers in seven Bay Area jurisdictions — including Marin County — are updating a previous stay-at-home order through May 3, 2020 in order to preserve critical hospital capacity across the region.

The previous three-week order was set to expire on April 7. The health officers have determined that more and stricter social distancing is needed to slow the rate of spread, prevent deaths, and stop the health care system from becoming overwhelmed.

"Extending the stay-at-home order should reduce the number of sick patients seeking care at one time, giving us time to acquire more medical supplies for providers who will be providing care to people sick with COVID-19," said Dr. Chris Farnitano, health officer for Contra Costa County.

The new stay-at-home order will supersede the previous order and go into effect at 11:59 p.m. on Tuesday, March 31.

Like the previous local order, the new order requires people to stay at home except for doing essential activities, such as grocery shopping. Non-essential businesses will remain closed.

In addition to the updated regional Shelter in Place Order, Marin County Public Health issued an updated Park Closure Order that provides clarity on park and open space access in Marin county. In summary, the new order states that individuals may access parks and open space areas that are local to their homes and are easily accessible by foot, bicycle or other non-motorized means, strictly for the purpose of engaging in exercise, as defined by the updated Shelter In Place order. Driving to access parks or open space areas is prohibited, except for individuals with disabilities with vehicles possessing current and valid Disabled Person Parking Placards or License Plates. Above all, all visitors to any park location must continue comply with social distancing requirements and are expected to stay local to the greatest extent possible.

Social distancing is the most powerful tool to slow the spread of COVID-19, a virus so new that it has no approved medicines or vaccines.

Food Resources Available for Vulnerable Populations

San Rafael, CA — Residents can search for their nearest food pantry or emergency food distribution location using San Francisco-Marin Food Bank's Food Locator App. In addition, information on food resources, services and assistance specifically for older adults (age 60 and over) and persons with disabilities can be obtained by email (457-INFO@marincounty.org) or by calling 415-457-INFO.

Those who are facing loss of income can seek help from Marin HHS's Public Assistance Programs, including:

- CalWORKS: Cash aid for individuals with children under age 18
- CalFresh: Cash assistance for food purchases for families and individuals
- Medi-Cal: medical care through Medi-Cal and County Medical Services Program
- General Relief: Cash Assistance for individuals over 18 with no children and with no or limited resources
- Women, Infants and Children (WIC): supplemental food and nutrition program low-income pregnant, breastfeeding, and postpartum women and children under age five who have a nutritional risk

Applications for Medi-Cal, CalWORKS and CalFresh are accepted by phone at 1-877-410-8817 or online.

WIC applications are accepted over the phone by calling 415-473-6889. General Relief applications can be obtained by calling 415-473-3350.

Those who are unable to access any of the resources above and have no other safe means to access food can call 415-473-7191, Monday through Friday from 9:30 a.m. - noon or 1 p.m. - 5 p.m. to speak to a live person regarding possible food options. Thanks to a partnership with local community organizations, one option available through the call center is a limited supply of grocery bag deliveries will be available beginning April 5 for individuals who do are ineligible for the food options listed above (while supplies last).

More Answers about Property Taxes Now Online

Tax Collector will consider COVID-19 circumstances regarding penalty waiver

San Rafael, CA — The County of Marin understands that the COVID-19 public health emergency has had a significant impact on its residents and businesses. It's had a similar impact on the County's collection of property taxes as well.

Although the Tax Collector's Office does not have the authority to provide a blanket waiver of the April 10 deadline to file the second installment of annual property taxes without a penalty, it does have the ability to waive the penalty based on certain circumstances, including financial hardships due to COVID-19. Waivers will be considered on a case-by-case basis.

Now, answers about waivers and other property tax questions are available online: https://www.marincounty.org/depts/df/divisions/tax-collector/cancellation-of-property-tax-penalty

Dearest Community,

I write to share some bookstore news. Yup, we too are affected.

Pretty much every month the bookstore brings in the right amount of money, meaning that the dollars collected at the end of every day and the Venmo contributions tallied at the end of every month, magically cover the cost of our rent, PG&E and garbage bill, roughly $1,200 a month. This month was different, to say the least. We fell short by $400. As our door stays closed through at least May 3, I recognize we will fall a lot more short this coming month.

Our dear Sooz. My friend Sooz.

One of the last things Sooz asked me to do was address envelopes containing bequestments to her favorite community places. There was an envelope there for the Bolinas Book Exchange. That one, I said, we could save the stamp on and I thanked her for her generous gift. I promised we would do something good with it.

And here we are. I am so thankful to Sooz, with Sooz’s help the book store is going to make it through this.

Thank you Sooz. I love you Sooz.

So far this is the only expert who has spoken out about the ocean being a potential vehicle for pathogens like COVID-19. I searched for more information/supporting opinions but did not find any.

In every phase of this pandemic / outbreak, I’ve wondered about sharing information that might spread fear or unnecessarily exacerbate concern, and each time I hold back I later wish I had listened to that little paranoid voice in my head, because the information eventually becomes useful.

So, in the interest of erring on the side of caution, here is this article. But in the interest of avoiding unnecessary panic, remember this is one person’s research, can’t find any corroborating info, and right now experts are trying to share as many potentials and speculations as possible in an aggressive effort to keep everyone home as much as possible.

What I see as a clear, indisputable takeaway: Keep extra extra distance from others, when you’re at the beach or in the wind! And, if you decide to go in the water.

Coronavirus at beaches? Surfers, swimmers should stay away, scientist says

From the Los Angeles Times, April 2, 2020 by Roxanna Xia (excerpt)

Kim Prather, a leading atmospheric chemist at the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, wants to yell out her window at every surfer, runner, and biker she spots along the San Diego coast.

“I wouldn’t go in the water if you paid me $1 million right now,” she said.

The beach, in her estimation, is one of the most dangerous places to be these days, as the novel coronavirus marches silently across California.

Many beachgoers know they can suffer skin rashes, stomach illness and serious ear and respiratory infections if they go into the water within three days of a heavy rain, because of bacteria and pathogens washing off roads and into the ocean. Raw or poorly treated sewage entering the ocean also poses major health risks.

Prather fears that SARS-CoV-2, the virus that causes COVID-19, could enter coastal waters in similar ways and transfer back into the air along the coast.

In her research, Prather has found that the ocean churns up all kinds of particulate and microscopic pathogens, and every time the ocean sneezes with a big wave or two, it sprays these particles into the air. She believes that this new coronavirus is light enough to float through the air much farther than we think. The six-foot physical distancing rule, she said, doesn’t apply at the beach, where coastal winds can get quite strong and send viral particles soaring.

“Step out onto the Planet. Draw a circle a hundred feet round. Inside the circle are 300 things nobody understands, and, maybe nobody’s ever really seen. How many can you find?”
