TODAY'S HEARSAY WAS MADE BY
 JEFF MANSON, PASTE UP & PRINTING DEPT.
 KATHLEEN O'NEIL, ADVERTISING DEPT.

John Barrow died May 11, 2013. He was my first friend in Bolinas, when I arrived in 1972. Our kids were the same age and in the same classes at the Bolinas School. There were memorable moments with them, riding horses on the beach and motorcycles in Middleton's field or hanging out in Dave Duffin's motorcycle shop at school, John was one of those quiet people who changed the lives of others in a positive way.

His influence is felt every day in Bolinas. Way back then, he and Art Carpenter decided that it was important for all our kids' education to know how to build things. Art, a master woodworker, and John, who worked at Art's Espenet workshop, transformed the old bus shed at the school into a woodshop. John and Art would teach students what they could do with wood. I remember John saying: "It's easy. Everything is a box: a house, a musical instrument, and a dresser. You just make that and go from there!" It was the start of the Art Shop Program at the Bolinas School. There is a carving on the door of the Quesada building that John did during those creative, crazy years.

He was also one of the first settlers in Paradise Valley. He lived with his family down by Pine Gulch Creek until he and Lea built their house. My family has lived in that same house for many years. When we first moved to Paradise Valley, we didn't know much about farming but knew we all wanted to "get back to the land." John bought Bessie, our giant Jersey cow. He milked her for years. She was a free-range cow. He would call Bessie, and she would come clopping along, running as fast as she could, from wherever she was in the Valley. Sometimes, I would take over the milking chores. Bessie would wait until I finished and invariably put her dirtiest back hoof into the bucket of fresh milk. I always took it very personally. John thought it was hysterical.

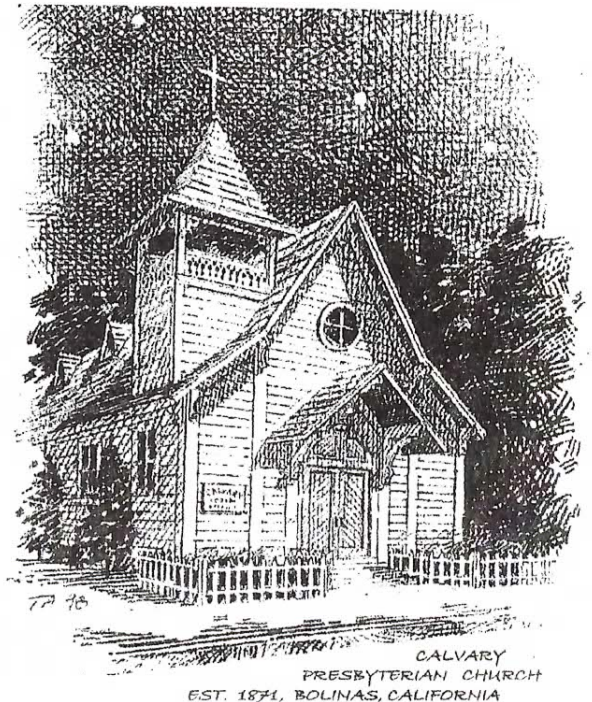

John was a wonderful woodworker, painter, carpenter, cartoonist, and lover of the arts. He saw beauty everywhere, from the torn posters on walls to the glories of the soft Marin hills and sea to the far away wonders of Machu Picchu. He was born November 21, 1931 in New Haven, Connecticut but grew up in Berea, Kentucky. As a youngster, he was influenced by the amazing crafts produced in the region. He attended art school in Philadelphia, where he deepened his appreciation of fine craftsmanship. His father, John, was a college librarian, and his Mom was an extraordinary craftswoman herself making everything from tables to quilts.

He came to Bolinas in 1970 and met Lorraine (Tui) shortly after he arrived. They were together for many years and had four children, John, Jesse, Celia, and Claudia. We lost Claudia at a young age in a tragic accident. In 1976, he married Lea and had another child, Ted. He and the family left Bolinas in 1978, heading to Austin, Texas. After caring for elders in the family for many years, they returned to California in 1997. Landing in Grass Valley, John finally realized his dream for a large painting studio. In 2010, tempted by the lure of the big city, they bought a house in Berkeley. He was always interested in politics and drew political cartoons. He loved jazz, classical music, and learned to play the cello at 75.

He and Lea created an extended family that included Tenzin, Sonam, Pema, and Julia. He loved this family as his own. When Julia was in my art class, she would always tell me stories about "Grandpa John".

He is survived by his wife, Lea; his children, John, Jesse, Celia, and Ted; and grandchildren Orrian, Delano, and Lianna Willis, and Emily Barrow. We will truly miss this amazing person who we were all so blessed to know.

--Submitted by Harriet Kossman

Calvary Presbyterian Church needs your support!

Our landmark institution, standing at the gateway to our village, offers guidance and support to our community. And now, it needs your help.

For over 140 years this iconic structure has hosted beginnings and endings, meetings and meditations, quietude and assembled voices. Its membership is small but seeks to grow and make a difference.

Members and non-members alike want the building filled with more assemblies, choral rehearsals and activities consistent with church purpose.

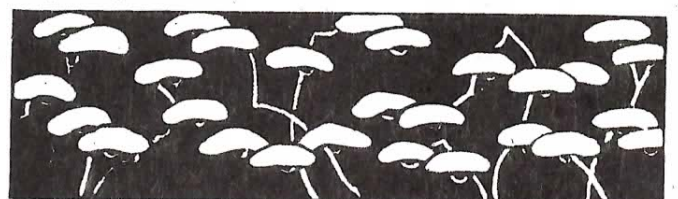

We rely on our rental income from the manse (the house next door) to augment our income to pay our bills. As many of you know, our manse has been empty for a few months while we refurbish, but we have run low on resources.

You can help by attending our 11:15 a.m. Sunday spiritual service for a sermon by our pastor Dr. Bob Grove, who never fails to offer inspiration for our everyday lives. Come to our gathering after the service at 12:15 p.m. for fellowship.

Or simply offer what you can:

Garden Tours and Gala Party
May 25 & 26

Bolinas Museum is offering Garden Tours and a gala garden party on Memorial Day weekend. Make your reservations now! This is the museum's important spring fundraising program and also a delightful opportunity to experience exemplary local gardens in diverse micro-climates. Museum Director Jennifer Gately arranged for visitors to stroll through most of these lovely gardens at your leisure during specified hours, welcomed by the owners and local gardeners.

On Saturday May 25, Tour #1 is Three Hillside Gardens above Stinson Beach, each with gorgeous views! Marty Cline transformed a hillside of poison oak into cascading garden "rooms" of inspired color and texture combinations. Architect Val and artist Tame Agnoli invite us to their extraordinary crescent shaped home. Steve Martin and Douglas Schmidt's imaginative garden is surrounded by wild land and thrives despite by drought and deer. Tour #2 is limited to 30 guests by reservation. This garden's splendid setting is the tip of Seadrift sand spit. Michael Bernsohn, owner of Las Baulines Nursery, will lead an informative tour then join our hosts for a glass of wine and savor their stunning location. Sunday morning Tour #3, visit two lovely properties with panoramic views above Bolinas Lagoon. Sip mimosas while wandering through the gardens that were collaboratively designed by acclaimed landscape designer Thomas Church and architect Edward Page.

Sunday Tour # 4 includes three sites. Angela Vernon's eclectic garden that exemplifies making a small area seem spacious and complex. Sally Robertson's masterful garden overflows with lush, fragrant flowers around her koi pond and art studio. Judith Lowrey's Native Plant Garden is a revelation of nature and gardener in easy harmony. Judith is harvesting seed now and has a wonderful wildflower seeds for sale.

Tour # 5 is at Dennis and Sandy Dierks' renowned Paradise Valley Produce farm and limited to 30 people by reservation. Dennis will talk about his forty years of organic farming, cultivating beneficial microbes, helping to establish Marin Organic and being the first farm in California to be certified Salmon safe because of their farming practices.

Then, Sunday evening is the grand Garden Gala. We are welcomed to an extraordinary, eclectic, eccentric and elegant home, wrapped by a highly original water-conserving garden designed by acclaimed landscape architect Roger Warner. Delicious food by Pam Ferrari, good wines, music by This Old Earthquake, old friends and new and evening light on Bolinas Ridge and the lagoon below will make this an unforgettable evening.

All of these tours and party comprise the spring fundraising that helps support the Bolinas Museum where exhibitions and most courtyard events are open and free to all. For more information, prices and reservations please call 415 868-8809 or visit www.bolinasmuseum.org.

From VI@KISA:

I am leading a fun demo/workshop, Immediate Impressions in Mixed Media free, Saturday, May 25th, 11am - 1pm at Riley Street Art Store on 4thSt, Near the Movie Theater. I will encourage inspiration and getting in touch with the subconscious for imagery and spontaneous creation. Techniques and suggestions for getting started and breaking through the blank paper syndrome will be demonstrated and media experiments will be offered. For summer drawing, travel experienter & or journaling . Limited space, please call (415) 457 2787

My guest on one of my rare blue Wed. radio shows, Coastal Airwaves, KWMR , 4 to 5 on Wed., May 29th will be David Freedman. He is the station Manager for WWOZ radio in New Orleans and my guide to all the good music and special things like the Dance and Feathers Museum. I want to find out how he stays so calm doing this great job in the big easy which we will talk about. I have read he is a guardian of the grove (huh?) and accepted an award for Best Radio Station at Off Beat Magazine's. After conversing with David I will play some of the new (to me) music from there and some of his favorites. I really enjoy him and think you will also. I will also throw in El Radio Fantastique new tune or 2. 90.5, 89.9 or streaming kwmr.org

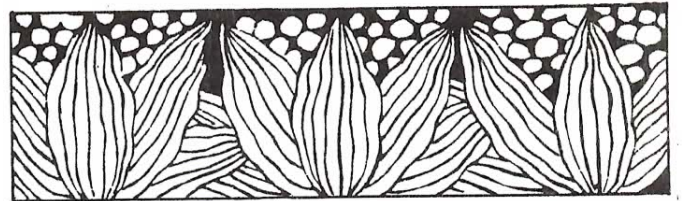

I have been immersed (I used to say obsessed till David told me "being obsessed means you are not in the drivers seat") anyway I am watching Treme and working on a book about it

I participated in 2 really feel good food events: this weekend: the Mothers day pancake breakfast for over 400 happy people. BVFD really rocked it. Who does not love bacon. The GRO Latino Photography Mole tastina benefit is absolutely one of the best events in West Marin. It was great.

Gallery Route One's Annual Artist Members Exhibition opens June 14th

Opening reception June 16th, 3 to 5, and I hope to have my Book there with the book I completed about Maui. Stay tuned.

My friend Martha Ryan actually got recognized with a CNN Hero award for the amazing work she does in Homeless Prenatal Program. I donate and am honored to attend their benefit on Saturday. It is amazing what she has done with her staff of several formally homeless people and others and their 3 mil.$ building that really functions. Secretly we call her Saint Martha but she can be quite irreverent which I find very attractive .Hope to see you in the SWIRL

REBELS WITH A CAUSE

Saturday May 18, 7:00

Every resident and visitor who values the wild and publicly accessible beauty of Coastal Marin should know the story of these Rebels, these visionary individuals and the grass root movements of thousands that they inspired, and how together all these people accomplished the impossible. Without them, Marin would have succumbed to the freeways shopping malls, tens of thousands of houses and sprawling developments that were planned and backed by powerful corporations, wealthy developers and government officials.

This is a particularly important film for our younger generation who believe in the value of preserving and protecting our farms and ranches, wild land, and open spaces. Victories are never guaranteed, challenges always arise. These rebels made up their methods step by step, but they now show us how it was done and inspire our vigilance and commitment.

Don't miss this opportunity, and please show your appreciation by joining all of us to see this exceptional documentary here in Bolinas. Some of these Rebels will be in attendance with the filmmakers and answer our questions after the film. There is limited seating, get your tickets now! Tickets are $15, advance purchase at Bolinas Hardware.

READING TO JOHN

On Tues. 5/21 at 10 am on KWMR (89.9) I'll finish reading E.M. Forster's "The Machine Stops," in which a reluctant Vashti visits her rebellious, visionary son Kuno who wants to venture to the earth's surface, deemed a toxic wasteland --a heretical act. I'll also share some reviews.

--Neshama Franklin

I have a really yummy and easy Kale recipe that I have been making a ton recently.

Raw Massage Kale Salad:

- 1 bunch kale (the ones at Gospel Flat farm stand are young and sweet right now)
- 1/2 tsp or more of Salt
- Lemon Juice
- Olive Oil

De-steam the kale, and cut into ribbons. Put into large bowl and sprinkle with salt. Rub the salt with your hands into the kale, it will break down the kale, and you get to be intimate with your food. Add Lemon Juice and Olive Oil to taste.

I sometimes add shredded carrots, pepper flakes, or other veggies to the mix.

Enjoy!

Some Tales from Around People's Store

5/17/13

The crabs are the only thing biting right now. Lots of jelly fish out there. North west winds continue. Josh had a first. This morning he went out crabbing with his son Kyle. As they were heading out the channel they couldn't get over the long flat spot before the waves. They both had to get out of the boat into waste high water and with every little wave give the boat a push forward. From the belly button down they were naked. Perhaps if Kyle had wanted to get up a little earlier they would have made it over the sand bar.... but that's a different story.

Oh no! A Mother locked her keys in the car along with her under six month old infant ON ACCIDENT. The car was parked in front of John Cozy's residence. He claims he was not home at the time of this emergency and he has a filling station receipt from a HWY near Lodi proving his whereabouts. A street gang consisting of familiar characters like StuArt, Canyon, Amalia, Tommy and Rocky as advisor were there to aid the rescue along with our local Fire Chief Anita and volunteer fire fighter Jacob Tacherra. The keys were located on the passenger seat. After twenty minutes of trying to get them with all the professional tools on hand, they managed to retrieve them with a trusty coat hanger! The infant was asleep for most of this stressful ordeal. She did wake up towards the end and can you imagine her subconscious memory: "Who the heck are all these people peering in the window? Where's mi madre?"

A Store Story. It has to do with Bad-Hair-Day-Dismay, "Honey- I'll Make-It- Up -To- You-Today-Somehow!" mother love and top notch Give-The- Shirt -Off - Your-Back (except it was a hat) customer service. Flower came in and said she had a weird request; could she borrow that there knitted cap that Jeff was wearing. Her son needed to cover up his botched hair cut. (by you know who). Our Clerk-Of-The Day gladly whisked off his cap and gave it to her.

Reminder: Corey will be in front of the Peoples Store @ 12:45 tomorrow, available to ghost-write Hearsay Submissions. Have you been wanting to submit something but can't find the right words? Corey can help.

KIDS MUSICAL THEATRE PRESENTS "SUCESSAL, THE MUSICAL"

The Dance Palace Kids' Musical Theatre production of the musical Suessical will be a special treat for our community. In this fantastical, magical, musical extravaganza, our favorite Dr. Seuss characters are lovingly brought to life. The colorful characters transport us from the Jungle of Nool to the Circus McGurkus to the invisible world of the Whos. This musical romp through the joys and sorrows of being a child is hilarious.

THE SILVERY LACEY MOON

We met on the dance floor
Your smile brighter than the sun

The hot pouring rhythms of your body
Enveloped my soul like the cascades
Of a tropical water fall

Your eyes smiling of forbidden worlds
Of passion and grace of joy and adventure
Blooming in a black forest of your hair

Drawing me closer and closer to
Your burning heart of crimson fire

We are running through a jungle of rhythm
We dance in circles of love. . . lips coming
Closer until our bodies whirl and change

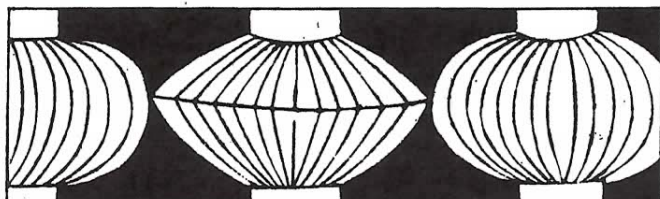

Change into panthers screaming in the
Passions of ecstasy and joy. . . and now
We are gone!!!

Me to my village by the Dragon Lagoon
You to the Island of tea from the land
Of the free. . . some things may never be

But our memories of courage and delight
Will hold our hearts in radiant light!
