Bolinas photographer wins Pirkle Jones grant

By Jennifer McFarland

The Pirkle Jones Foundation, established by the late Mill Valley photographer Pirkle Jones, has named Bolinas resident Eli Geller as the third recipient of a grant from its Visual Artists Support Program. The program supports artists promising emerging and mid-career artists living in Marin County. Photographer Geller will receive a grant of $25,000.

The PJF Visual Arts Support Program grant aims to recognize, encourage, and nurture artistic imagination and drive, commitment to the creative process, aesthetic standards, and artistic potential.

Upon notification of the grant, Geller wrote, "I am completely amazed and filled with gratitude by this opportunity. This is a monumental affirmation as an artist. I am looking forward to a wonderful year as a photographer, and to cultivating and expanding my universe in art and life."

After a 2013 sold out show at the Gospel Flat Farm Gallery in Bolinas, Eli made the decision to pursue photography full time. He was inspired to be an artist after watching a film about the life and work of Ansel Adams. This led to his discovery of and dedication to the alternative photographic process called "lith printing". He notes, "The process allows me to express the numinous, mysterious beauty that I see. I am especially moved by the raw, untouched natural world. Every 'lith print' is one of a kind, through them I am constantly reminded of the tremendous beauty that surrounds and enfolds us, and that Nature is the greatest artist of all."

Jennifer McFarland is Director of the Pirkle Jones Foundation.

From Nancy Blanchard over the phone:

John Barrow: A Recollection

It was 1967 & I'd lived in Bolinas just a few months when one day I remarked to John that it would sure be a plus if we had a bulletin board here; there had never been one, let alone a newspaper of any kind. I mentioned it had been very popular back in the Fifties near the university of Chicago to have a giant tree covered with notices.

A couple of days later, John said to me, "Raise 40 Dollars & I'll make a board." "OK" I said, but I thought to myself it was sort of a lot of money. I wondered how I'd manage to raise it.

Yet how easy it turned out to be! Everyone I spoke to contributed a Dollar, so I soon had collected the amount, which helped me know me community; it had been nothing but a pleasure.

Shortly afterwards John had not just made, he had CARVED the most beautiful bulletin board in the world...

We mounted it immediately on the Pepper Store where it has resided to this day, 46 1/2 years later. If you peer closely at its surround, you can still make out the words:

"COMMUNITY BULLETIN BOARD- Every Man, Woman & Child in this Village may enjoy, share & be responsible for this Board."

What a guy...
Good Bye, John

Garden Tours and Gala Party THIS WEEKEND

Take your self, friends and family for a local adventure on the Bolinas Museum benefit spring Garden Tours! Then, Sunday evening join us for the Gala Garden Party.

Saturday May 25, Tour #1 is Three Hillside Gardens. 10AM-1PM. High above Stinson Beach these very diverse gardens have spectacular panoramic views of Bolinas Ridge and the Pacific Ocean. Each garden will have refreshments and local gardeners to answer questions. Check-in is at Marty Cline's land where his passion for gardening and artistic vision is expressed with over 200 plant species, from native to rare specimen plants, nestled in six distinct areas around natural rock and a flowing stream. Next, architect Val Agnoli, famous for his innovative style, and his artist wife Tame Agnoli invite us to their Three Day Moon House with its startling 120 foot curved roof line, surrounding garden and art studio. Then, narrow trails let you explore and discover the niches and micro-climates of Stephen Martin and Doug Schmidt's richly imaginative garden that thrives despite regularly visiting deer from the surrounding wild land. Enjoy refreshments on their patio while savoring a stunning view.

Tour #2 at the tip of Seadrift's sand spit is sold out.

For Sunday May 26 tours, check-in and ticket purchase is at the Bolinas School Parking, 9:30 AM – 3:30.

- Tour #3 Morning Light & Mimosas, visit two lovely Bolinas properties with glorious views looking down on Bolinas Lagoon and the great curve of Stinson Beach.

Sip mimosas and enjoy delicious treats provided by baker Beth Setrakian while wandering through the gardens that were collaboratively designed by acclaimed landscape designer Thomas Church and architect Edward Page. 10Am Must check in at the Bolinas School and take shuttle. No drop in.

- Sunday Tour # 4 Three Big Mesa Gardens.

1-4PM. Angela Vernon has nearly forty years of local gardening expertise. Her own eclectic garden exemplifies making a small area seem spacious and complex.

Sally Robertson's garden is different every week! As a master gardener and artist Sally has created a lush garden that is famous for fragrant roses, orchids, striking plant combinations and the lovely koi pond. Judith Lowrey's Native Plant Garden is a revelation of how an easily maintained natural garden nourishes both wildlife and the human spirit.

Tour # 5 at Paradise Valley Produce farm is sold out.

- Sunday evening is the Garden Gala at a lovely and secluded property on the edge of Big Mesa. We are welcomed to an elegant, eclectic house that features a chandelier of Ostrich eggs and collections from world travels. Surrounding it is the highly original water-conserving garden designed by acclaimed landscape architect Roger Warner, and edged by huge oak trees. Delicious food by Pam Ferrari, oysters by Drake's Bay Oyster Company, ale by Lagunitas Brewing company, fine wines, music by This Old Earthquake. Gather with old friends and new at the handsome fire pit to watch evening light on Bolinas Ridge and Lagoon. This party will be an unforgettable social event.

These tours and gala party comprise the spring fundraising that helps support the Bolinas Museum where exhibitions and most courtyard events are open and free to everyone. Garden tours are $30 per person for members, $35 for non-members. The Gala is $100 for members and $125 for non-members.

For more information, prices and reservations please call 415 868-2006, visit www.bolinasmuseum.org or come to Bolinas Museum and also enjoy the current exhibitions of historic paintings of Coastal Marin, photos of Asia in the 1920s and 30s, felted painting and our history room.

John Barrow, early Seventies Paradise Valley

JOHN is a carpenter, one of the best in town. He builds houses, does cabinet work, carves doors, makes furniture. He now lives in Paradise Valley in a half-finished house which he designed and built himself. He shares it with his three children, whom he has raised himself since he and his wife had a parting of the ways years ago. He earns a living, cooks, does the laundry, takes the kids to the doctor.

He has lived in town for over twelve years. He was one of the first of the new wave of immigrants who transformed the town in a matter of years from a predominantly summer and weekend vacation town into a year-round community.

"It sure is easier with a woman around," he says with a sardonic smile.

John grew up in Kentucky and Texas, the son of a pacifist who lost his job teaching during the Second World War.

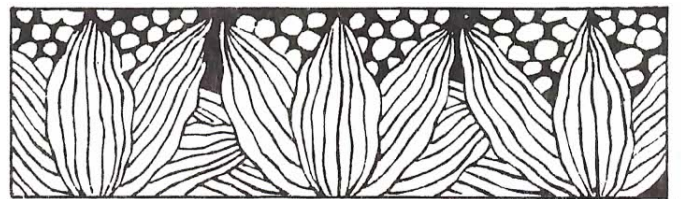

Both texts from

The Town That Fought TO SAVE ITSELF
pp. 39-41

The world will be emptier without you, John.

Felice Harbush

From a letter to his Father about Paradise Valley.

The external pitfalls are something I should use some ribbon on because I know our stand must worry and interest you. Me too. What we are doing is civil disobedience. I feel like neither a criminal or a revolutionary. Our county (by no means uniquely) has been (is being) massively despoiled by developers. Many acres of delicate and beautiful land is cut, divided, and rendered useless (in any real way, by our lights) by greed. We (mankind) must learn to use our land more wisely and sensitively. And this is exactly what we want to learn to do with this valley, for ourselves and as an example.

Our disobedience will be directed mostly toward the building codes. I see (we see) building codes as a mass of legislation developed to protect buyers from dishonourable sellers, builders, realtors etc., to fatten manufacturers of materials and lastly to protect those who live in buildings. Our motive is not profit, and we believe in our honour anyway. Our charter makes it impossible for us to realize profit from our buildings. We will live in our valley and farm it, so who is better qualified to establish standards for that life than us?

Monday May 27th is Memorial Day and the annual BCC's Memorial Day BBQ and Dance Party will be in full rock from 12 noon - 5pm.

Bar-B-Que will be serving oysters, sausages, salads and some smoked BBQ brisket sliders! Around 12:30 pm Bobo Tempo will start with some rocking sounds, followed by the OMGs and Vintage.

We are looking for volunteers (grillers, bar tenders, servers, set-up, break-down, etc) please call Lia at 868-2128 or email lia@bocenter.org to sign up.

Looking forward to another great Dance Party and BBQ in the Heart of our village - hope to see you there!
