FRIDAY, JUNE 07, 2019

Dear Bolinas-Stinson School Families and Community,

The school year has gone by quickly and was packed with so many wonderful events and memories. I would like to thank staff, parents, students, and community members for making my first year at the Bolinas-Stinson School an amazing experience full of learning, laughter, and building lasting connections. I look forward to continuing our work together next year as we support our school and amazing students!

WELCOME ANNA TOSICK - OUR NEW 3RD & 4TH GRADE TEACHER!

We are excited Anna will be joining our third and fourth grade teaching team. She will be working closely with her partner teacher, Rachael Dressler. Anna's early work as a naturalist and environmental educator in West Marin inspired her to pursue her teaching credential from Sonoma State University. Since then, she has received a Masters in Curriculum and Instruction from Indiana University, completed her Waldorf Certification, and served as a pioneering teacher for ten years at Kona Pacific Public Charter School on the Big Island of Hawaii. Anna is currently teaching fourth grade at Greenwood School in Mill Valley.

Anna returned to Marin County last summer so that she and her 17 year-old son could be closer to family and spend more time with her parents and extended family. When Anna is not teaching, she and her son can be found at the beach, as they are long time ocean lovers. Anna is a competitive outrigger canoe paddler and her son surfs and bodyboards. While Anna will miss the rural community of South Kona, she believes that Bolinas-Stinson is the closest mainland match to that environment. She is excited to teach in a community that is aligned with her educational philosophy: an arts infused, place-based pedagogy that instills a deep interest and curiosity for the world. We are thrilled to have Anna as our newest addition to the Bolinas-Stinson teaching team!

CLASS CONFIGURATIONS FOR NEXT YEAR - WHO, WHAT, WHERE?

We have a fantastic line-up of teaching staff, specialists, instructional assistants, and support staff at our school for next year. The following is an overview of homeroom teacher placements and the grade level/subjects they will be teaching. This configuration is designed so that students will receive essential grade level specific, core instruction, as well as provide a multi-grade level dynamic classroom environment. Please feel free to give me a call or schedule a time to meet with me this summer if you have any questions.

JUNE 22 BOLINAS JAZZ CAFE STARS
MULTIPLE GRAMMY WINNER

The appearance of Paul McCandless at the June 22 Community Center Jazz Cafe is, for Bolinas, both an honor and a reunion.

Paul--who is a multiple Grammy winner and plays most of the he woodwind family-- lived here for several years in the eighties. His friends here remember him as a gracious and unassuming presence, gladly taking part in the life of the town. His then wife, Robin, taught dance classes at the Community Center.

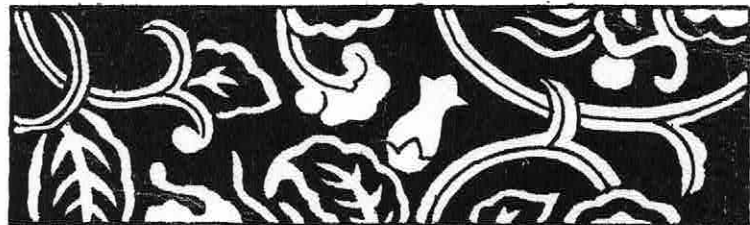

It is somewhat daunting to try to list Paul's awards and achievements--with his own band, Oregon, and touring and recording with many other groups. Here are some of the Grammys he has won: Best Pop Instrumental Performance, with Bela Fleck and the Flecktones, two Grammys for Best New Age Album with the Paul Winter Consort; and nominations for Best Instrumental Composition and Best Arrangement for his piece "Round Robin" in the Oregon In Moscow album and Best Jazz Instrumental Solo, for the album 1000 Kilometers.

As a soloist, he has appeared with major symphony orchestras, including the Los Angeles Philharmonic and the Philadelphia Orchestra.

At the Jazz Cafe, Paul will be joined by local stars Piro Patton on bass and Michael Pinkham on drums, with well known Bay Area jazzmaster Si Perkoff on keyboard. Opening the night will be the Dale Polissar Trio, with Dale's clarinet joined by Si and Piro.

Start time is 7:30, doors open at 7:00. Admission $18, at the door. No dinner, but drinks and desserts available.

milestone event. This year, the students chose Gohar Yervandyan, our seventh and eighth grade teacher, as our featured speaker. We will enjoy songs from our K-6th grade students and special presentations from several of our talented eighth graders. Refreshments and lunch will be served for graduates and their families.

Warmly,

Michelle Stephens

Continuity is key in continuing the power of community rituals. And even though this year's Sun Festival will be smaller than in the "good old days" (when we were neither good nor old) The Sun Festival still has the power of 36 years of celebration. Celebrating life is really what it's about. Welcoming the new ones to Bolinas and honoring the renewal of community.

I've never stopped calling it "Floating Sun." Pierrot gave it that name at the beginning. To me Floating Sun honors a Balinese influence, one might call it Bolinese, that is manifested in parasols, flowers and brightly colored streamers. Floating Sun used to be Bolinas's May Day or Beltane. We were younger then, and bacchanal celebrations were easier to handle.

Now Sun Festival is about the baby blessing, welcoming the new radiant incarnations to our town. Tom will cradle each babies in his majestic hands, then raise the baby high.

"Welcome, _____!" we'll greet each starchild, each new Bolinisan with their name. It's a fabulous opportunity to witness the growth of our community firsthand.

"Welcome beautiful babies!"

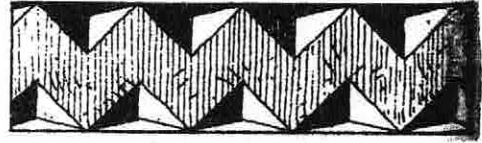

Four Daikinis will dance as I intone "Bo Om." The Daikinis will wave Bo Om placards in the air, keeping time and signalling to the assembly when to sing "Bo Om."

"Bo Om" simply means the Universal Vibration sympathetically vibrated in Bolinas. Last year as I was singing "Bo Om" and the Daikinis were dancing I looked skyward. The wispy, high cirrus clouds were deliciously softening the Sun's fiery energy and I saw raybeams of light falling down on the Festival.

"Maybe I'll see an angel." I thought as I tried to make out wings or other angelic things amongst the clouds. But I quickly realized that a true Sun Festival vision was bigger than anything I could imagine. There was a connect-edness between the watery blue orb of Earth and the fiery energy of the Sun that was beyond my comprehension. It was too majestic, and too mundane.

Sun Festival is a celebration of the marriage of Sun and Earth. If you think about it, everything is a Sun Festival on this Planet. Sun Festival is a wedding party, and the babies are already born. We're all children at play in the Fields of Bo, let's celebrate and appreciate it.

*Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om.
 Father Sun, Ocean Mother
 Bless the Babies and Each Other . . .
 Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om.
 Here and now this special place perfect moment, amazing grace . . .
 Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om.
 Here and now, celebrate
 Appreciate how really great - it is.
 Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om.
 Here and now, we become all as one - Floating Sun . . .
 Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om. Bo Om.*
