"When the well is dry, we learn the worth of water."

— Benjamin Franklin

We’ve got good news and we’ve got bad news. The bad news is we’re on the verge of a drought. The good news is that by working together, we can get through this!

According to its Community Update published on January 17th, BPUD reports "the water district is in a much better position today from an available water supply standpoint than it was five years ago," when the last drought occurred. Back in January 2009, there was a two-month mandatory rationing, limiting consumption to 150 gallons of water per household per day. BPUD continues, "...the community response was immediate and incredible—compliance with the rationing requirements exceeded 98% and, since that time, water consumption in the district has remained far below historic levels."

BPUD has asked all of us to voluntarily reduce our water consumption to 150 gallons per household per day. The following chart can help you determine how much water you’re currently using and provide ideas for conserving this precious natural resource.

Conserving water can also extend the life of your septic system by reducing soil saturation and reducing pollution due to leaks. Here are some additional ideas for saving water:

1. Consider replacing older appliances/fixtures with new, water-saving equipment.
2. Check faucets and pipes for leaks. A small leak from a worn faucet can waste 20 gallons of water per day; larger leaks can waste hundreds of gallons.
3. Don’t use the toilet as an ashtray or waste basket. Every time you flush the toilet, you use up to seven gallons of water.
4. Check toilets for leaks by putting a little food coloring in your toilet tank. If, without flushing, the color begins to appear in the bowl within 30 minutes, you have a leak that should be repaired immediately. Most replacement parts are inexpensive and relatively easy to install.
5. Use your water meter to check for hidden water leaks. Read the house meter before and after a two-hour time period when no water is being used. If the meter reads exactly the same, there is no leak.
6. Install water-saving shower heads and low-flow faucet aerators. All faucets should be fit with aerators. This is the single best home water conservation method and is also the least costly.
7. Limit showers to the time it takes to soap up, wash down and rinse off. A four-minute shower can use up to 40 gallons of water.
8. Put plastic bottles or a float booster in your toilet tank. Put an inch or two of sand or pebbles inside each of two plastic bottles to weigh them down. Fill the bottles with water, screw the lids on and place them in the toilet tank, safely away from operating mechanisms. Be sure that at least 3 gallons of water remain in the tank so it will flush properly. If you have to flush twice to get rid of waste, it defeats the purpose.
9. Insulate hot water pipes. It’s easy and cheap to insulate with pre-slit foil pipe insulation. You’ll get hot water faster plus avoid wasting while water heats. Best solution: invest in a tank-less hot water heater.
10. Turn off the water after wetting your toothbrush. Then simply use a glass of water for rinsing your mouth after brushing.

11. Rinse your razor in the sink in a few inches of hot water. This will rinse your razor just as well as running water, with far less waste.
12. Use your dishwasher for full loads only, and do not use the pre-rinse option, which is a big water waster.
13. Use your washing machine for full loads only, and do not use the permanent press cycle, which siphons off an additional 5 gallons for the extra rinse. New Energy Star-rated washers use up to 50% less water and 50% less energy per load. Front load washers are the most efficient.
14. Minimize the use of garbage disposals. Aside from being a septic system no-no, disposals require plenty of water to operate properly. Start a compost pile as an alternative method of disposal.
15. When washing dishes by hand, don't leave the rinse water running. Gather washed dishes in a rack, place in the sink and rinse with a sprayer or pan of hot water.
16. Don't let the faucet run while cleaning vegetables. Rinse in a stoppered sink or pan of clean water.
17. Keep bottles of drinking water in the fridge. Running tap water to cool it for drinking is wasteful.
18. Mulch trees and plants to slow evaporation of moisture.
19. Don't run the hose while washing your car. Use a pail of soapy water and use the hose only for rinsing. This simple practice can save as much as 150 gallons when washing a car. Use a spray nozzle when rinsing for more efficient use of water.
20. Use a broom instead of a hose to clean driveways and sidewalks.

Water conservation comes naturally when every member of the family is aware of its importance. Parents, please take the time to teach children some of these simple water-saving methods to use at home. It can make a huge difference!

Come join the discussion. We hope to see you there!
Go to Health: Update on flu, apples, coffee, vitamin D and polio in India!

*Flu – there have been at least 23 deaths from this year’s flu epidemic in the Bay Area, with many more people in intensive care. It’s not too late to get the flu vaccine, which contains protection against the H1N1 virus. Our clinic will help you! Get yourself protected.

*Apples – I previously reported on the benefits of apples in prevention of cardiovascular disease. See my blog sadjascolumns.blogspot.com – 12/23/13. Researchers at Cornell University have identified compounds in the peel of apples that have anti-cancer effects in the laboratory against liver, breast, and colon cancer cells. So – buy organic apples whenever possible, and eat the peel!

*Coffee – New positive votes for coffee! Researchers in Turkey have reported on numerous studies showing that coffee drinking is associated with a lowered risk for metabolic syndrome, as well as a reduced risk for non-alcoholic fatty liver disease. Metabolic syndrome is a name for a group of risk factors for diabetes, heart disease and stroke. These factors are: a large waist line (apple shape), an elevated triglyceride level, high blood pressure, low HDL cholesterol (the ‘good’ cholesterol) and a high fasting blood sugar. Non-alcoholic fatty liver disease affects about 25% of the US population. It is a buildup of fat in liver cells, not caused by alcohol, that tends to develop in people who are overweight, have diabetes, high cholesterol or high triglycerides. A previous large study on coffee, run by the National Institutes of Health (400,00 men and women followed for 12 years) showed that coffee drinking – either caffeinated and decaffeinated – is associated with a lower risk of death from heart disease, stroke, respiratory disease, injuries and accidents, diabetes and infections. Coffee is also associated with a lower risk of uterine cancer in women, and of basal cell skin cancer. A recent large Harvard study showed that caffeinated coffee, but not decaf, is associated with a 50% decrease in suicide. This is huge.

*Vitamin D – The American Geriatrics Society advises that older people should have a vitamin D intake sufficient to keep their blood level at about 30ng/ml. This level has been associated with a lower risk of falls and fractures. White the influence of vitamin D on bone density is small, the impact on muscle strength and fall prevention is impressive. If you, or a relative, are over 65, getting a vitamin D level is important. The test is called 25(OH) D. Supplementation with vitamin D can bring your level up, and the amount of D to take should be discussed with your health care provider. The Geriatrics Society suggests that doctors prescribe up to 4000 IU daily to achieve good blood levels. I suggest getting a blood level before taking 4000 IU daily – start with 1000-2000 IU daily and talk to your doctor or NP. Calcium intake is also important for strong bones: I will write more on this mineral in a forthcoming column.

*Polio eradication in India! India, a country of 1.4 billion people, has successfully eradicated polio, with no cases reported for the past 3 years. India had 150,000 cases in 1985, 6,028 cases in 1991, 741 cases in 2009, and the last one case – on Jan 13th, 2011. The country used 2.3 million vaccinators each year; mobile teams immunized children (with oral vaccine – kept cold for potency – no small feat) in homes, in railway stations, inside running trains, at bus stands, marketplaces, and at construction sites. Muslim leaders were identified and went along with the program. The vaccinators publicized this message - wherever you stay, wherever you go, protect your child against polio. This was an astounding public health success, funded by the government of India, the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation, the U.S. government and many other countries and organizations. Only 3 countries still have cases of polio – Nigeria, Pakistan and Afghanistan. In these areas there has been very tragic threatening and killing of vaccination teams. May the opposition see the light and protect their people against paralysis.

WOMB OF THE UNKNOWN MOTHER
I have found a mother willing to accept a blessing and a flower from all who dare bring one. She is unknown in our land, as is her child that will be born later this month. She was completely willing to take the pregnant goddess role in our subconscious need for unconditional blessing of ripe abundance. She has been preparing for this honor for nigh 9 months now. Rain dances welcome, starving children blesses welcome, gaia worshippers welcome. Just bring one flower and one blessing. Come full of welcoming for life.
