ACTION ALERT (Oct. 31): Stop CDFA's Plan for Unlimited Future Pesticide Spraying

The California Department of Food & Agriculture (CDFA) Draft Statewide Pest Programmatic Environmental Impact Report (Pest PEIR) authorizes the state to spray pesticides anywhere, any time, for any pest, into the infinite future. If the Pest PEIR is approved, there will be nothing that we can do to stop state pesticide spraying in our communities.

- Threat to human & environmental health, including honeybees. The PEIR would permanently eliminate less-toxic, non-pesticide, and organic options for state pest management. It allows spraying at schools and fails to adequately analyze pesticide impacts on children and other sensitive individuals such as the chronically ill. Its 79 pre-approved pesticides are linked to cancer, birth defects, reproductive system damage, and extreme toxicity to bees, other pollinators, fish, other aquatic life, birds, and mammals.

- Threat to organic farming. Organic farms could be forced to spray non-organic PEIR-mandated pesticides. The PEIR disregards the economic and environmental impacts of forced spraying on organic farms, stating that organic farmers will not be harmed because they can simply sell sprayed crops as conventional produce.

- Expansion of spraying with no public notice or input. The PEIR allows CDFA to add new chemicals, new treatment locations, and new target pests behind closed doors with no way for us to know about or challenge these decisions.

Approval of the PEIR would set a precedent for sweeping, unchecked power by state agencies in matters involving human and environmental health.

Stop the approval of the PEIR:

DAY OF THE DEAD

For more than 3,000 years, the indigenous people in Mexico, the Southwest, and California, have celebrated a ritual honoring the dead. Over time, this ritual became known as El Dia de los Muertos, the Day of the Dead. It is a celebration of life and a time to share memories through arts and crafts, music, stories, and food. Join us in celebrating those who have gone before us. The evening begins with a procession through Point Reyes. A communal altar will be created so please bring offerings, photos, flowers or mementos of a loved one. Aztec dancers will conclude the night's festivities. Event will include local Mexican food at 6 PM. Friday, November 1, 5:45 PM Procession, 6 PM Dinner / Free, donations accepted

WHAT HAPPENED

MONDAY MORNING WEEK IN REVIEW
10/27/14 WRAP AND RECAP from Jenniepfeiffer

It was reported this week that Mercury went out of retrograde and that we will soon be feeling relief as we pass from this tumultuous time. It is always good news to trade-in tumultuous, hopefully for something upbeat with the love planet Venus, but I haven't gotten the part of the news yet about what comes next. It's rumored to be good, or as least better, although it's been convenient to have that planetary excuse for when things went awry. It was an auspicious time for my sweetie, Ned, to celebrate a birthday this week, a date that always signifies the seasonal change and a reminder that fall is indeed upon us, and that in one more week Halloween & Days of the Dead open the floodgates to the season of hysteria that brings the time change, then Thanksgiving, Winter Solstice, and all the variety of cultural holiday celebrations culminating in New Year's Eve and winter hibernation. Ned's birthday and the customer appreciation night at the Coast Cafe, which happened Monday evening with plenty of good food generously provided for no charge by the Coast management and staff and made all the more festive with tunes by Midnight on the Water, highlighted the week. It was, as always, a fun night, and I enjoyed seeing friends and neighbors coming in, filling plates, visiting, and appreciating the appreciation night.

The week ended yesterday with Mesa Broek and Karen Sexton's Bolinas Gallery show closing party. I've enjoyed seeing their West X Southwest works on display this past month with the mingling of inner and outer landscapes. I have my eye on a couple that I've put on the "maybe one day" list.

This morning's walk with friends through the sewer pond land brought me a renewed appreciation for the individuals and groups that worked so diligently to secure that beautiful land for the community. I would love to see the same happen with Star Route Farm, so we could hike past the ponds, past the Firehouse, through Mesa Park, and down to Gospel Flat, all on community property. There is a traditional Irish song that has a refrain about the land, "you cannot own the land, the land owns you," which is such a moving concept and in my opinion, one we have moved too far from in our ownership driven culture. Don't forget to vote next week. jp

Dear Bolinas Friends and Neighbors,

My husband, Russell Faure-Brac, is in cancer treatment at Stanford Medical Center and it is going well! The bone marrow stem cell transplant happened on October 10 and his blood cells and immune system are already beginning to be replaced by the donor cells! We are so grateful to our anonymous donor and to all our support team of nurses, doctors, family and friends. If you want details, go to the CaringBridge.org website and enter Russell Faure-Brac in the space where it asks whom you wish to visit. I enter journal updates weekly.

Thanks for all your love and good wishes,

Argument Against Measure B

Dear Neighbors:

As a graduate of the Bolinas-Stinson Union School District, and one who has always advocated for the better education of our students, I find it very difficult to support a $9,000,000 school bond measure that fails to define exactly how it "will improve the quality of education" for our students. The only, very general, reference to education in the ballot measure is that it will "improve student access to instruction technology." This is an item that should already be being addressed with monies received from our current property taxes.

It may be true, that a few improvements are necessary to meet ADA requirements, of which I am totally in favor, but it seems to me that the school very recently received modernization upgrades. And, through all the literature that I have read regarding this ballot measure, I have yet to see any mention of a master plan for this bond money.

If there is a problem that needs fixing, or an educational improvement that is needed to enhance the learning of our students and keeps them on par, or above par, as to what is taught to their peers, then I am in favor. But, before you get my vote, I need to know the details and how much it is going to cost! I am not accustomed to handing over the money first, and then finding out the details later.

Regretfully, I am voting, No on B.

Sincerely, Matt Lewis

IN FAVOR OF MEASURE 'B'

I'm not sure Jody Angel has ever met a ballot proposal that she didn't oppose (e.g. 2002 Measure R- Safe Routes to School) or challenge (Nov 2005 Bolinas Fire Protection District Measure D- Parking Plan).

I was not surprised to see her letter in the Hearsay (10/24/14, "The Excessive $9 million School Bond Tax"), but for a former self-avowed teacher and homeowner, her positions are surprising.

Bolinas and Stinson Beach voters, homeowners and renters alike, have an unprecedented opportunity to transform the Bolinas-Stinson Union School District (BSUSD) into a first-rate 21st Century learning environment by voting YES on Measure B, a general obligation (G.O.) bond targeted to address facility needs at the District's two campuses—Stinson Beach (grades K-2) and Bolinas (grades 3-8).

Our school campuses are indisputably beautiful, but the fact is our facilities are outdated and many classrooms must be upgraded to meet 21st Century education and technology standards. Education has evolved significantly over the last 30 years—curriculum requirements have changed, as have instructional methods. The technology revolution happened.

Contrary to Ms. Angel's statement "new buildings will not increase learning", a brief online search turns up numerous studies indicating that facilities matter. For example, a dedicated science lab would definitely enhance our academic program and better prepare students for high school over the hill. Educating our children and preparing them for the larger world requires quality educational facilities.

Schools are subject to intense wear and tear. While some modernization has occurred within the past 5 years, BSUSD has not addressed comprehensive facility needs in over 30 years! If anything, the school board and administration are acting proactively and prudently in placing the GO bond on the ballot at this time. Bond rates are low and monies will stretch further. Measure B enables the District to improve school facilities and education provided to our local children.

Christine Cunha Counter to Ms. Angel's assertion, Measure B has a plan, which has been years in the making. Numerous staff and community members have devoted considerable time identifying a comprehensive list of facility improvements needed to enhance our academic program beginning with the 2012 Facilities Needs Committee and extending to the 2014 Fiscal Oversight & Facilities Planning Advisory Committee (FOFPAC). Christine Cunha Additionally, BSUSD conducted an online Community Survey this past summer soliciting input from all Bolinas and Stinson community members specifically on facility-related proposals and the bond referendum. After responding to extensive questions about the school and possible facility improvements, 53% (out of 155) of respondents favored a referendum, 32% were "not sure" (most of whom requested additional information) and only 15% opposed the bond. Community feedback guided the bond referendum wording.

Christine Cunha Measure B enables BSUSD to address many facility issues including, in part: replacing the seismically questionable Quesada with a functional multi-purpose space (possible gymnasium—no more basketball practice in Pt. Reyes—performing arts space large enough to accommodate our entire school community of 120 kids & their families), science lab, additional classroom (possibly to accommodate state-mandated preschool), renovating art shops to current health & safety standards along with many other identified needs. [See ballot book for entire facility list]

Regarding process, BSUSD board agendas over the past 3 years show a plethora of facility-related agenda items thus indicating due diligence on behalf of the board during plan development. Board agendas are posted in advance at multiple community locations e.g. post office boards and Hearsay. I have attended many board meetings over the past 8 years and have never seen Jody Angel at a single one.

Most importantly, Measure B is anything but a "blank check with little oversight". If passed, not only is there a Citizen's Oversight Committee, which insures all funds are spent on approved bond projects (only), but also a dedicated Facilities Committee will be formed comprised of community & staff members. This committee prioritizes projects, creates a master plan (with an architect) and makes recommendations to the board. There will be abundant community input and leadership in directing wise use of these monies.

It is true that there is no senior bond exemption, however, long-time property owners have built-in protection [thanks to Prop 13, passed in 1978, which rolled back assessed property values to what they were in 1975, capped property value increases to no more than 2% per year and tax increases at 1% thereby decimating the CA education system in addition to local city & county revenues].

GO bonds are calculated on assessed property value rather than market value (see your property tax bill for your current assessed valuation). With an estimated tax rate of $30 per $100,000 of assessed valuation per year, a homeowner would pay $30 per year ($100k assessed value); $90 per year ($300k), $180 per year ($600k), etc.

I actually agree with Ms. Angel when she says "No way is it the job of the school to increase property values"; With Prop 13 in place, local property owners and voters are responsible for supporting local schools—both programs and facilities—the State is minimally involved. But, according to Duke University, Economics Literature Survey: The Effect of School Quality on Housing Prices by Lauren Taylor, "it has been found that better quality schools increase the real estate value of houses in their areas, improving schools can be a method for improving neighborhoods and stimulating economic growth." As a parent of two kids in the school, I can say that math is improving. My 7th grader is learning quadratic equations with Don Jolley. Like other curriculum areas, math instruction has changed, although there is still room to improve.

With the guidance of our new School Superintendent, John Carroll (who incidentally was hired well into the bond process and had very little to do with it), and Principal, Jason Richardson, I am confident the next few years will yield impressive educational enhancements for staff and students alike.

Can we kick the can down the road? Absolutely. But we've laid the groundwork and are well-positioned to tackle these needs now. Measure B is an investment in our children's academic future and our long-term community welfare.

You can base your vote on the misinformation of people like Jody Angel or you can learn the facts. Please VOTE YES on Measure B! And vote for me, too. Christine Cunha (for School Board)

Seven Habits to Protect Your Heart

Here they are, and a study of 12,000 people showed that the more factors a person met, the lower their risk of death from heart disease.

- *Get active – 30 minutes, 5 times a week – brisk walking will count
- *Control cholesterol – lower than 200 mg/dL
- *Eat better
- *Manage blood pressure - 120/80 or less
- *Lose weight – achieve a normal BMI
- *Reduce blood sugar – fasting glucose below 100
- *Stop smoking

The study, called the Aerobic Longitudinal Study, followed 12,000 people for 11 years, with an average age of 46 at baseline. The results, published in the Mayo Clinic Proceedings, showed that the more a person complied with the 7 factors, the lower their risk of death from heart disease. People who met 3 or 4 of the heart-health criteria had a 55% lower risk of heart disease death. People who met 5-7 of the criteria had a 63% lower risk than those meeting the fewest.

They found that only 0.2% of people met all seven criteria! "There is definitely room for improvement," according to the Tufts University experts who analyzed the study. Their advice is to make small and gradual changes in the right direction, in collaboration with your doctor. I will add that stopping smoking is something people should do regardless of whether or not they have a doctor. There are groups and over-the-counter products that can help.

I will round out this short column with a few memorable quotes, inspired by Jenny Pfeiffer's example:

Life isn't about finding yourself. Life is about creating yourself. George Bernard Shaw.

If you contribute to other people's happiness, you will find the true meaning of life. The Dalai Lama

Respect only has meaning as respect for those with whom I do not agree. Karen Armstrong

Recently, the Bolinas Beach Seawalls have been painted over, removing old art, making way for the new. One of the unfortunate side effects of this paint-over was the removal of local "Memorial Art."

In an effort to rededicate the Green Wall as The Bolinas Beach Memorial Seawall, I wrote and posted a number of poems as the first to which I hope others will add. Please visit the Green Wall, to the right of the Brighton Ave. ramp.

THREE GREAT THINGS ABOUT THIS PLACE...

(1) Samhain, the Celtic ceremonial day known in Catholic cultures as Day of the Dead. It marks the beginning of the dark, chthonic half of the year.

(2) My still being a (diminishing) presence on the soccer field. At 73 and counting. I'm very grateful.

(3) We replaced old corrugated filon on the porch roof with the new greenhouse panels. Great stuff, no leaks so far.
