What Happened

10-21-19 Monday Morning Recap

from JenniePrfitter

It was a week of memorials, meetings, fabulous fresh food, and phone calling to update the Hearsay News Bolinas-Stinson Beach 2020-21 Local 868+ Phone Directory. The Hearsay hosted a Community Calling Pizza Party (John Sabatini’s excellent Tuesday night Pirate Pizza) at the Bolinas Community Center, where we re-started in earnest checking the 868 listings for accuracy. AT&T has been eliminating landlines in the 868 area, as people move or release their lines in favor of cell phones. Some have been lucky enough to transfer their 868 numbers to cell phones, but other numbers have been eliminated. Editors of the Directory have no way of knowing what listings are still accurate without calling EVERY number – a daunting task. I know this Hearsay staffer got over-whelmed and needed to step back. Thanks to those who have volunteered to help, we are back on track and hopefully, will be ready to print the Directory in November so it’s ready in time for the December Holiday Fare(s). We still have lots to do, so we can use your help: email us at 868hearsay@gmail.com or call 868-0138 to let us know if your info is correct; if you no longer have an 868 number; if you would like to include your cell number if you could please add your P.O. Box or other address; and if you wish to add an email address. Also, let us know if you are a new business (listings are free unless it’s a display ad) or are no longer in business. If you have the time, you can jump in to help with calls.

Wednesday, there was a meeting at the school’s Bolinas Campus Library, for a live screening of a Dominican University hosted conversation with Nic and David Sheff, the father-son authors of the book “High”; that gives all the drug/alcohol information a parent needs to help prepare for and navigate the rocky teen years a child goes through. The evening was moderated by Michael Krasny of KQED’s Forum. This valuable book’s available at all Marin libraries.

Thursday there was a meeting at the Bolinas Community Center with Supervisor Dennis Rodoni and a panel of County Health & Human Services staff discussing how the County and its partners are supporting the chronically homeless in West Marin. The question/answer time at the end got lively, as there was sentiment that Bolinas is not getting the support we need. Some points included no bus service to get to Point Reyes where most of the services are, not much Bolinas visitation from the agencies, the need for showers now that Sam’s House is closing (that’s harsh news for many, as Rosie and Julio have done so much for the community, caring for loved ones, helping elders transition out of this life, and making themselves available to help so many – we owe them great thanks and will certainly miss that facility), as well as some personal reports of frustrating experiences. It’s a complex issue, with conflicting agency policies. The Coastal Commission promotes tourism over residents, new home owners are not so sympathetic, and people want to stay in community, so would rather sleep in a car than be relocated elsewhere. That is no longer okay. More discussion is needed.

Free Food Friday was another perfect picnic in the park hosted by Melinda Stone’s USF class – cornbread from the cob oven and everything fresh, organic and hand done.

Also on Friday was a Bolinas Lagoon Advisory Council meeting that I got only a small piece of, just enough to hear that there is a moratorium in Bolinas Lagoon, and if you don’t have a permit for your mooring, you might face the possibility of relocation.

The weekend brought two memorials, one Saturday at the Rod and Boat Club with a farewell to Louise Pepper, matriarch of the Pepper family, a family that goes back to the early days of the town of Bolinas. The slide presentation, put together with photo organizational and tech support from Leonordo Brady, showed an enlightening historical look at last century houses and businesses in downtown Bo. I would have loved a presentation identifying people and places. The food fare was fabulous – fish in perfect Ahi Tuna seared sushi style preparation and barbequed shrimp and more fresh veggies and desserts.

On Sunday, there was a benefit and Celebration of life for Miguel Hernandez, chef at 11 Wharf. Thanks to the Hardware Store for hosting that, with condolences to family and friends. So difficult to lose someone who still had so much life potential ahead of him.

In between raindrops on Saturday, the “Six Dancing Princesses" turned into nine dancing princesses, and said never-you-mind to the weather as they performed and danced delightfully in the Downtown Park Labyrinth, directed with skill and enthusiasm by Camilla Ford. It’s so good to see such a great use of our park this week. I’m hoping for more such park presentations.

All this activity left little energy for the amazing fresh delicious goodness at the AbunDANCE Reggae evening that Maitreya and Lee put together to benefit the Bahamas hurricane victims. Music was outstanding and the food was excellent. Unfortunately it conflicted with Homecoming and other events. It was an amazing loved filled evening. JP

Tribute to the Indian Occupation of Alcatraz, 1969-1971

My exhibit of photos of the occupation 50 years ago will be at the Point Reyes Library until the end of October. The occupation is considered a watershed event in Indian history. Did you know that in 1970 President Nixon changed the 1950’s policy from ‘Termination,’ which was intended to destroy reservations and ‘assimilate’ Native people into the general population, to ‘Self-determination.’ He also returned large areas of land in the Northwest and New Mexico to their Native owners.

The Hearsay News staff has been calling numbers in the 868- Directory to check for accuracy. You may have heard from us. We've added the + (plus) because you can also have your cell number listed, and P.O. Box numbers are good too. If you have released your 868 landline number, please let us know so we can replace that with your cell number or other contact of choice. Please let us know by calling the Hearsay at 868-0138, or emailing hearsay news <868hearsay@gmail.com>. You can also be added to the classified section if you have a service you would like listed. And if you can help make calls, please let us know that as well. That would be excellent because we need the help in order to be ready to print in November for sale at the various Holiday Fairs in December! Thanks.
