FIBERSHED'S ANNUAL WOOL SYMPOSIUM

This year's symposium moves forward on the 'Cool Clothes Campaign' through detailing the best soil-to-skin practices for reversing climate change; starting with a report from our rangeland scientists on the results of four years of soil carbon analysis on grazed lands. Following upward through the supply chain we will hear the voices of two young emerging sheep ranchers, we will share our research on the California Wool Mill Project, and provide our findings of the six month long wool inventory project. We will have a host of amazing local artisans and farmers selling their freshly farmed clothes.

THREE GREAT THINGS ABOUT THIS PLACE...

- (1) Flannel sheets!
- (2) Hundreds of monarch butterflies drifting in this unseasonable autumn heat.
- (3) Long winter evenings are upon us—lots of time to make music, read, bake, crochet, talk, attend support groups, whatever.

--Ned Riley

11 November

Old November Day/Martinmas/Einherjar

This day marks the full onset of winter. Hiring fairs used to take place today. In Asatru, it is the festival of the Einherjar, the 432,000 spiritual warriors who guard the gods. In Ireland, it is the day of the Lunantishees, spirits that guard the holy blackthorn trees.
