Eros and Amour

Down the livid birth canal tumble Ovid's progeny
 Dancing and gyrating along the Grand Canal
 On this amber and resplendent day
 When all that goes down

Springs up with supernatural resiliency When thoughts just cannot be drowned in the back sink
 When butterflies flutter upwardbaby seals loll about
 And little coyotes frolic on the svelte mead of Our Lady Columbines and sweet vetch frame your bemused Botticellian face
 And sweet music seems to flow out of these very pesky winds of early April

And you somehow made it back in time for our picnic
 Looking far better than ever Muttering sweetly that there's no where else to go
 And playing croquet with us like nothing had happened
 Like you hadn't been far away at all Like you had just gone out to the car to get your jacket or something

And this purr arising from Gia's sweet bossom.....
 Almost deafening for those of us with the ears to hear
 And the touch to feel
 Your exhilarating beat
 Your long waves of love and synchronistic intimacy

But enough
 I just wanted to tell you that I love you Without conditions
 Because what could they possibly be?
 It is after all a ride that cannot be denied
 So take a deep breath and

Free Fall into love

THREE GREAT THINGS ABOUT THIS PLACE...

- Dewdrops. If they catch the sun just right, you see hundreds of gleaming prisms scattered in the grass.
- Hugs. It seems to be the fashion to do a lot more hugging when people meet. I'm for it.
- Midnight on the Water. We had a reunion last week for Hawk's birthday and made some joyful music.

Art, Garden & Food Festival Open House.

Come on down to the BCC Friday night April 26th from 5-8 and preview the silent auction with lots of great gift certificates for body work, restaurants, art by West Marin artists and much more, place an early bid, have a glass of wine and check out the arts and crafts vendors.

Then come back on Saturday 11-6, for live music, fabulous food and more vendors. The Bolinas School Band will be playing in the hall from noon to one. The Psychedelic Seniors will be in the plaza from 11-12, September in the plaza from 1-2. In the hall Five against Four (Emmalee & Ben) from 4-5 and the auction will close at 5. More bands to come.

See you there.

Randi & Kate

What happened: 4-22-19 Jenniepfeiffer's Monday morning non column.

Recommending New Orleans French Quarter Festival. As good as it gets for music and food.

Still puzzling over the age-old question about the connection between bunnies, eggs, (wouldn't it be less confusing to children to have an Easter Chicken?) and the resurrection of a crucified messiah. It is a puzzlement.

Hope everyone is enjoying the beautiful spring weather with the sounds of birds warbling, weed whackers whirling, and mowers making moves to reclaim yards and gardens in time for egg hunts. Hope those eggs were all recovered.

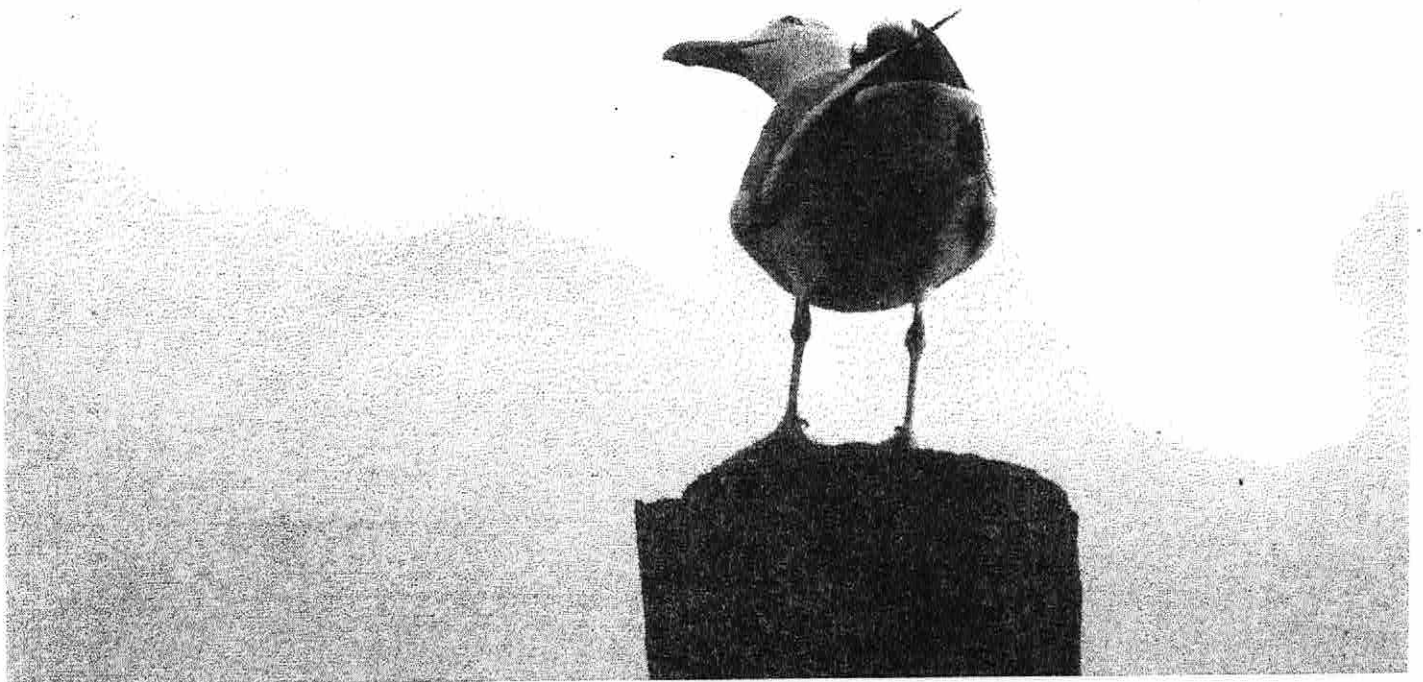

It was a week to clear clutter and put out bulky items for trash pickup. Our offering got left beside the cans, for some unknown oversight of trash etiquette on our part, but mostly the Mesa looks much tidier and we can thank the Recology crew for their excellent work.

Other signs of spring included the school annual Track and Field Day Friday, with the delightful inclusion this year of the pre-k children along with all the K-8th graders, and it is always a thrill to see all of them on the field together doing warm up exercises. Then the graduating 8th graders took their final lap around the perimeter with the torch before placing it atop the Quesada building. This year, they honored the much loved, retiring 7/8th grade teacher, Don Jolly, by pulling him into their last lap -- all so very moving.

And of course another spring event supporting our littlest children, was the Bolinas Pre-school's Spaghetti Bingo night Saturday with a fun full house and lots of prizes.

I want to thank Elia Haworth for organizing and moderating the Bolinas Museum sponsored Bay Area Natural History Great Minds Panel Discussion Thursday, featuring the great minds of Peter Pyle, Dr. Nils Warnock, Josie Iselin, Ellen Litwiller, & Dr. Peter J Gleckler providing enlightening conversation about birds, migrations, seaweed and other ecosystems, and the art all around us in the natural world. Check out the work of these individuals in the Museum gallery exhibits.

There's always something interesting to see and do. jp
