I'd like to thank all those who over the years bring in such nice books (and good books!) to the downtown Bolinas Book Exchange, the high caliber of our stock is all because of you. Sorry I had to post a sign a couple of days ago making a general request to slow down deliveries, please don't stop, but the boxes are really piling up! We should have it cleared in a few days, and when the sign goes down, please be advised, books that are old, faded, tattered or moldy generally go out to the recycle bin. There are exceptions for exceptional books, you be the judge of that, but a reliable guide of what to bring in is to check out our shelves, and generally stay in keeping with the quality of what's already there. Thanks again for your patronage and participation. Ananda

WHAT HAPPENED THIS WEEK

6-19-17 MONDAY MORNING MEMO

Week in Review Recap from Jennie Pfeiffer

We are well into June Jam up time, more things happening than it's possible to do, much less write about so a shortened recap today.

Packing up the Stinson Beach Preschool, emptying the building to make it ready for removal, has taken all of last week and into this. It has taken many hands.

Thursday's eighth grade graduation was the main event of the week. Congratulations go out to all the 8th graders who have matriculated through Bolinas-Stinson School and are preparing to move on to high schools over the hill: Marin Academy, Branson, Drake, and Tam, maybe others. Fifteen stellar students presented Reflections in poems and prose, some singing songs, giving words of appreciation, all of them looking elegant and poised. There was an honoring of the preschool teachers that started them on their way: a moment of silence for Ward Young who unfortunately passed away this past year; Laura DiStasi, retiring from Bolinas Children Center; and Susan Tacherra, whose Stinson Beach program is closing after 4+ decades. We wish them all the best on this new transition, and Steve Alkenhead reminded them in his address, they can take us with them on this new adventure, by carrying the love and lessons of the Bolinas-Stinson School -- the tools and technology they have accumulated in these past 9 years.

The Summer of Love exhibit opened at the Bolinas Museum, with a look at the 1970's - the clothing, the photographs, the crafts -- stop in and take a look.

I'm finding many relics of the past myself as I continue with my clutter clearing. I'll be putting it all out in the yard next weekend for a multi family yard sale -- lots of items ready to go.

With record heat, so many cars are bringing people to the cooler coast beaches, so take care on the roads. Best to stay put to stay cool. JP regarding the 4th of July!

A word from the

The Briones Lions Club is proud to announce that the Bolinas 4th of July Celebration will go on as usual this year!

Thanks to the overwhelming response to our call for new members in January, the Briones Lions Club is able to, once again, fulfill its commitment to the folks of Stinson Beach and Bolinas by sponsoring and organizing the unique events that make the Annual, 4th of July Celebration in Bolinas so special.

We are also happy to announce the return of the Briones Lions BBQ!

With this in mind...

We ask that all Street Venders and Community Members who are planning to sell, or give away, food downtown this 4th of July, to please refrain from doing so until after the Briones Lions Club BBQ sells out! Generally, this means after 1:30pm. The 4th of July Event is your biggest fundraiser of the year with 100% of the proceeds going back into the communities of Stinson Beach and Bolinas, so we would greatly appreciate your granting us this request.

Your participation is required to make this year's 4th of July Celebration the safest and best ever!

Remember: No Fires, No Fireworks!

Enjoy,

Matt Lewis, President
Briones Lions Club

Refugees, Our Brothers and Sisters

As you know, there are currently approximately 65 million refugees throughout the world, many of them children. Globally, 30 million people are on the brink of starvation. The International Refugee Committee founded by Albert Einstein in 1933 delivers lifesaving care to people fleeing conflict and natural disasters. I have been donating to them for years. Charity Navigator continually gives them a very high rating as 90% of every dollar goes directly to refugees. David Miliband, IRC director, is himself a child of refugees. He says helping refugees is a test of our humanity. It is a test of our character. You can listen to him at his TED talk, 2017. So if you are wondering what you can do for the refugees and those on the brink of starvation, you can donate to IRC (1.855.9RESCUE/help.rescue.org/donations). If you don't have the funds to donate, then perhaps you can hope, pray, visualize, etc. that the world will finally recognize the world's refugees and do something about it. My monthly IRC donation is taken out of my Master Card. Thank you! We Are All One!

Pat Dickens

P.S. If you want to see first hand the extent of the world's refugee problem you can get from the library the DVD Fire at Sea.

Bill would turn California utility poles into cell towers

By NINA BEETY
June 9, 2017 at 1:00 pm

Most utility poles will become cell towers under Senate Bill 649. The bill strips municipal governments of decision-making power.

Spaced approximately every 10-20 homes, cell antennas will hang in one or more clusters on utility or light poles. Equipment cabinets the size of refrigerators, with cooling fans and back-up generators, will sit on sidewalks. Towers will be located in the public right of way a few feet from bedroom windows, offices, schools, hospitals and nursing homes.

Called "small cells", there is little difference in size for many of these antennas; the chief difference is the location on utility poles versus large towers. Measurements of these cell towers recently taken in Palo Alto found high levels of radiation on the sidewalk below them — levels higher than those associated in research with breaches in the blood-brain barrier, free radical formation, DNA damage, cancer and tumors, and heart rhythm disturbances.

What the levels are inside buildings a few feet away and in line with the antennas is anyone's guess.

This 24/7 exposure of the most vulnerable, including children, is ignored by the California Legislature. This isn't surprising since Capitol Weekly named AT&T lobbyist Bill Devine the 16th most powerful person in Sacramento last year. CTIA — the wireless industry — is the listed source of SB 649. And the telecom industry hosts the Pro Tem Cup in San Diego and Speakers Cup in Pebble Beach — lavish, hush-hush lobbying and fundraising events for the California Senate and Assembly members. How many members of the public can afford to buy a politician?

SB 649 is effectively eminent domain, taking the public's right of way for another use. The public has not agreed to cell towers in their front yard, but the bill states this is not a municipal affair.

Remember the Malibu fires, where officials evacuated the city? This was caused by utility poles overloaded with telecommunications equipment — AT&T, Sprint, Verizon, and NextG.

Look around you and see the leaning, bowing poles next to homes and buildings, hanging over streets and sidewalks. Malibu Mayor Andy Stern called these time bombs. Add more gear, multiply the number of poles impacted, and what will be the result?

The FCC's website says there are no federal standards for microwave radiation exposure. FCC exposure guidelines were derived from industry, and there is no policing or compliance testing of cell towers. Many exceed federal limits according to two surveys.

Once installed, you're stuck, and due to federal laws, every company has to be allowed access to a location, even if that means the same pole and higher radiation levels.

Do you have a utility pole in your back yard or along your fence line? That utility easement on or through your property means they can put anything on that pole. Undergrounded utilities in your neighborhood? New poles will be erected, or antennas will be mounted on homes. AT&T's new service agreement says you must agree to anything they want to install on or in your home (complain to the CPUC if you disagree).

Impacts to agriculture will be costly, with documented effects from microwave radiation to bees and other pollinators alarming international scientists. Industrial ag is already impacted by dying bees from other causes. Damage to trees and plants is also documented, but the Legislature ignores all of this and the costs to the public.

SB 649 is being rushed through the legislature before the public finds out. It has already passed the Senate. If you don't want cell towers next to your home and office, take action before it's too late.
