BABY BLESSING DAY

What a MAGICAL day of Beauty, Love, and Joyful UNITY, when 24 of our precious babies, five small children and one young adult male, were BLESSED and WELCOMED into our Community last Saturday!!!

The Ritual fell into place as if ordained by a Celestial Clock !!! Martine began with the Universal Welcoming Invocation assisted by Mark Butler, Don Smith, Melinda Stone. This was followed by a surprise spontaneous visit from Skyroad Webb (Coastal Miwok Indian), who led us in the Song/Prayer for the Seven Directions. This was followed by Magi who defined the all-encompassing MEANING of WHY we invoke our BLESSINGS on these Special Occasions. He then read to us a Traditional Native American Prayer.

Mark Butler (our new leader) and Jane Mickelson then took turns calling out the NAMES of each baby, and walking around the circle with the baby to be Welcomed by ALL of us !!!

Then afterwards, at the altar, the parents were offered a Blessing Bag for their little one to take home. Magi, who is normally the official photographer, found the batteries dead in his camera! Our Grandson, Winfield, took over and used his I-Phone to photograph all the families with their babies! Magi printed the photos on our printer, and they will be in a small red box on the counter at the Peoples Store today for the families as a Memory of this Wonderful Day !!!!

Thanks to Samira for the coins for the Blessing Bags, Jutta, Curley, John Glavis, and all those who helped on the Beach and at The Park for the SUN-FESTIVITIES!!! Bless Us All !!!

Mary Barror

Bolinas Library book club

The Bolinas library book club will be meeting the first Thursday of the month. The next meeting will be on July 2nd at 7pm. This month the book is "Boy, Snow, Bird" by Helen Oyeyemi. The review follows:

The author of Mr. Fox (2011) sets her whimsical retelling of a classic fairy tale in 1950s Massachusetts, where beautiful young Boy Novak has fled her tyrannical, abusive father to seek a fresh start. She makes two friends, glamorous Webster and ambitious Mia, and exchanges her lovelorn hometown suitor for a history teacher turned jewelry maker named Arturo Whitman, whom she marries despite not quite coming to love him. Arturo has a young daughter, Snow, who poses a threat to Boy after the birth of her own daughter, Bird, when a secret is revealed: the Whitman family has been passing for white since moving to Massachusetts from the South. Though Arturo's imperious mother, Olivia, wants Boy to send Bird away to live with Arturo's darker-skinned sister, Clara, it is Snow whom Boy exiles. As Bird grows up, she becomes fascinated with the stepsister she has been separated from, and the two begin a secret correspondence. Oyeyemi delves deeply into the nature of identity and the cost of denying it in this contemplative, layered novel.

Copies are available at the desk.

THREE GREAT THINGS ABOUT THIS PLACE...

(1) The lovely pocket garden tucked in behind the Health Clinic.

(2) The baby-naming ceremony on the beach, then the pizza feast & May (June?) pole dance in Downtown Park. As always, intensely sweet.

(3) An Irish musicians' Solstice party up in Inverness. Must have been 30 musicians cranking out tunes under a new moon.
