The BCLT is planning for its second annual HOME event, which will be an audio-visual story telling of our home; Bolinas.

We are looking for tidbits and vignettes from previous time periods of Bolinas and are hoping you may have a story to share with us.
We are open to all kinds of tales.

Some of the subjects we have thought of are:

- Historic Summer Colony
- Beats, Misfits and Artists
- Back to the Land Movement
- Ranching and Fishing
- Full Circle and Activism.

Can you think of others? What story of your own do you think everyone might enjoy hearing?

Please email us at ewilhelm@bolinaslandtrust.org to tell us your story. All submissions must be in by 1/25
Cheers!

- Evie Wilhelm

Jan @ 77

This Saturday Night YOU ALL are invited to a birthday party at the Bolinas Community Center. I have lived this long, and I want to party with all my fellow Bolinians. With help from my friends, I wish to play some of the songs I have concocted over this almost 40 years of living here in our Special Shire. We are a real living and breathing community!

This occasion will be a benefit for the BCC that I have served for much of this duration.

We will start earlyish at 7 for the benefit of both the Kiddoes and Elders who may prefer to leave at their appropriate times. The rest of us (including this elder) will stay on playing musics etc. until 11 or so

We will have a BCC operated bar and welcome you to bring light, healthy snacks as well as "darker" style yummy desserts for our delight. There will be a $5 charge to enter into this exclusive event and drink's cost will not be on the house but go to the BCC as well!

This will be a relaxed and joyful moment. Any pressure on me or anyone else will be dismissed because we wish to dispel the murky darkness that has pervaded our lives since November 2016. Now along with the slowly lengthening and lightening of our solar days, we also look forward to a brighter future.

May it be so!

Cultivating Energy with Vivienne

Thanks to West Marin Senior Services for sponsoring Vivienne Verdon-Roe's Qi Gong class on Sunday morning, 10-11:15am at the Community Center. (The class is free for seniors)

Vivienne's style of Qi Gong is uniquely suited to Seniors because it is low aerobic. She calls it "energy (Qi) cultivation (Gong)"

The energy Vivienne refers to (Qi) is that invisible, all-powerful force that animates the universe. The process of cultivating Qi involves opening to it and inviting it. Visualization and simple body movements combine to stimulate the flow of healing Qi.

Vivienne's lovely British accent is calm and reassuring. Guided by her voice - with eyes closed - we practice allowing Qi into our bodies - blissful on a quiet Sunday morning with friends and community.

Muscle memory will help in the future but for now practicing Qi Gong requires attention, relaxation and dedication. Wonderful way to start Sunday.

Sunday morning is an opportunity to work with Vivienne and cultivate energy. We will build a mind field together that will attract more Qi.

We will cultivate Qi in our humble village like we cultivate our Garden of Bolinas and bring the Light into the Mud. Feel it in your being — the presence of the essence of the Universe.

Vivienne, ever the activist, always invites us to share our gift of Qi with the world, as if Bolinas is once again broadcasting healing waves of Qi from a Sunday morning transmitting site in the Bolinas Community Center.

Thank you, Vivienne, for giving your healing wisdom of Qi Gong to us seniors here in Bolinas.

Wink! Wink! Flirt! Flirt!

by StuArt

Check out the "Map of Bohemia" at the Library. It's a sister painting to one that was sold to a private collector a number of years ago.

This particular rendition of the "Map of Bohemia" was intended for the Galeria Basura before it burned down. Left as a pencil sketch on a plywood panel the map was never finished. Until a few weeks ago when Jane asked me to put something up at the Library.

Didn't know what to hang. Wanted something new that would be fun to display to the reading public.

While I was deliberating about what to do, a small corner of the "Map of Bohemia" winked at me. It was stacked vertically with some other paintings, almost hidden.

Now when I say "winked at me" I am referring to a "flirt" - a flirtation from the Universe. I used to believe that I flirted with the Universe, until I realized that actually the Universe was flirting with me!

Wink! Wink! Flirt! Flirt! Let's get together!

Laughing and a bit embarrassed at the Universe flirting with me, I pulled out the unfinished painting and set it on the easel. Don't normally like to rehash ideas, but the size of the panel fit the Library space perfectly and besides —

It winked at me!

So I got down to the drudgery of finishing the painting, which involved a lot of calligraphic lettering. As I was working on the "Map of Bohemia" I realized how suited it was for the Library with all that fine calligraphy - people actually had to read the map.

The painting was in a reading place after all. The "Map of Bohemia" was all spelled out, laid out and ready to be read. It had to be read, if only to answer the question -

What and where the hell is that?

Bohemia - it's a separate state of mind. There's no road sign — just follow your bliss.
