Friday 12 - 5 PM  •  Roadside In Our Field
Sharing what's up on this side of the dirt...

Hello all. I have a message for my town, it is personal, but first... a gratitude...

Eat the Light

We LOVE to be alive in my hometown!
We live where plants change light into human beings.

PLUS,
this is the place
where...
the lost chord
and the last straw...
kinda pal around,
you know?

We live where
laughing is a second language...
luckily,
laugh kills lonesome.
There's an altar we call the FreeBox,
where you can offer your past
to someone else's future.

The kissing is like singing without making any sound.
Our names are safe in the mouths of people who love us.

In this place where we feel most at home,
now is not later,
it's just right now,
so...
it's never later than we think!

Our wisdom lies in
the expectation
of surprise,
and knowing...
love saves lives.

Time is ours,
not hours,
as the light endlessly witnesses that none of us has done this before.

Well all righty then!
If life can't help but be new...
then all new things are true,
as we do as we'd be done to,
here on the edge of the western world, in our hometown.

soozy mills

I put this in in loving gratitude to Bolinas and its people, our community. It's spirit has helped me live so happily here for fifty years, and I am sure it can now help me with the possible closing of this life's circle, with grace & curiosity & trust. I seem to have a med diagnosis that has come on very fast, and which means I could be taking that next great mys tery adventure. (I mean ya never know, but quite possible, and I want to celebrate every moment possible with my peeps beforehand, so I'm letting you know what's going on without you having to ask me or to speculate.

No reason not to share this info here and hopefully someone will repost in Hearsay... I know some of you care for me as I care for you, and you may pm me if you so desire, or give a hug at a possible sighting. All that seems to matter at this point is to love and be loved... Yup!
That-simpile old truth. A great relief, actually.
And it seems good to share this passage, if that is what it is to be. Everybody's practicing.
Folks are so kind, they share their truest real-est self in their compassion.

Thanks for the support you dear old beloved town, and I sure know I have it, and I sure know how much it means to me.
I do love us!
soozy

West Marin's Best
LaBOheme

Thank you, Maddy, for your January show at the Gallery, not only an art exhibit but a cultural hotspot for the month.

La BOheme
a cafe from Paris circa 1890 magically transported to Bolinas.

Small, gingham covered tables were scattered throughout the space. Tea & crumpets were available. Photographs by Maddy & Paintings by Rob Sretakian graced the walls of the Gallery. There was even an intimate “make-out room” for rendezvous and Tarot. It was all very romantic and enchanting.

The back of the Gallery was curtained off to create a theatre for slideshows. Some of Bolinas’ most esteemed photographers (Bill, Ilka, Kelly & Maddy) showed their slides of Bolinas. The parade of faces and images was mesmerizing. LaBOheme quickly became my favorite place to hang out on weekends.

Adding to the fabulosity of LaBOheme was Jan Broek’s poetry reading on Thursday. The intimate cafe setting was the perfect venue for poetry.

Jan is a wordsmith and enjoys peppering his poetry with arcane words and then providing footnotes for further explanation. Those words from the past bring the wisdom of antiquity to Jan’s poetry.

Jan dives deep into the Dharmakaya to retrieve bullion cubes of meaning.

Mentioned “bullion cubes of meaning” to Jan. “Did you say ‘bull Jan?’ ” he asked.

“Not ‘bull Jan’ - ‘truth Jan’” I answered.

and it was so,

Thank you, Stuart!
