Reading the Signs

No county money for Bolinas' Surfer's Overlook repair

Houses and roads are falling into the Pacific Ocean up and down the coast, from the Muir Beach slide on Highway 1 earlier this year, to the stunning collapse of numerous Gleason Beach properties on the Sonoma County coast over the past decade. This whole "oceans rising" thing has a real cost— who's gonna pay?

The problem was on raw display during a standing-room-only meeting at the Bolinas fire station this past Saturday to talk about the fate of the so-called Surfer's Overlook on Terrace Avenue. The meeting featured a telling bit of hilarity during an exchange between Marin County Supervisor Steve Kinsey and Robert Plotkin, an East Coast native who is also the former—and highly controversial—publisher of the Point Reyes Light.

Here's the story. Engineers have determined that Surfer's Overlook, a popular spot from which to view the wave action, is going to fall into those waves within a year or two. The town needs to come up with $500,000 for an immediate fix to the road—and there's another $6 million needed in an as-yet-unscheduled Phase II fix that would shore up the bluffs along Terrace.

As of Saturday, Bolinas organizers had raised about $200,000 for Phase I. Marin County pledged to kick in $50,000 as part of its commitment to pay 10 percent of the total Phase I cost, Kinsey told the group. The county is also picking up the tab for whatever permits are needed to expedite the job, which will be done by county public works employees.

Missing Artwork from the Gospel Flat Farmstand

My art show, Velella Velella, was hanging in the Gospel Flat Farm Stand in April. A piece went missing during the last week that the show was up. The piece was hanging in the top left corner of the exhibition. It is a 22" x 30" cyanotype image in a black 27" x 49" frame - a cyanotype of two women posing with a surfboard.

If you removed the work, I would be happy if you would return the piece, or leave a check in the farmstand cash box, no questions asked. Or, you can get in touch with me directly - perhaps this was an honest mistake? The farmstand runs on an honor system - let's help it continue in that spirit. If you have any information, please contact Norah - 503 453 2459. xnorah@gmail.com. All the best, N

Notable & Quotable

John Steinbeck, writing about California's Salinas Valley, where he grew up, in the novel "East of Eden" (1952):

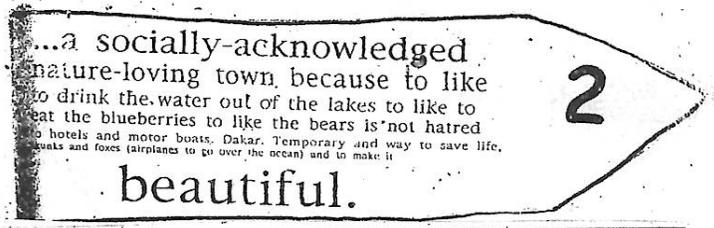

I have spoken of the rich years when the rainfall was plentiful. But there were dry years too, and they put a terror on the valley. The water came in a thirty-year cycle. There would be five or six wet and wonderful years when there might be nineteen to twenty-five inches of rain, and the land would shout with grass. Then would come six or seven pretty good years of twelve to sixteen inches of rain. And then the dry years would come, and sometimes there would be only seven or eight inches of rain. The land dried up and the grasses headed out miserably a few inches high and great bare scabby places appeared in the valley. The live oaks got a crusty look and the sagebrush was gray. The land cracked and the springs dried up and the cattle listlessly nibbled dry twigs. Then the farmers and the ranchers would be filled with disgust for the Salinas Valley. The cows would grow thin and sometimes starve to death. People would have to haul water in barrels to their farms just for drinking. Some families would sell out for nearly nothing and move away. And it never failed that during the dry years the people forgot about the rich years, and during the wet years they lost all memory of the dry years. It was always that way.

Changed-Up Scene The Village Elliott: 5/15

My friend wrote, " Ball struck (you) in the nose,
So they called (you) by name, 'Billy Loes,'
But as everyone knows -- uh,
They'd call (you) Lou Groza had the ball hit (and broken) (your) toes."

Replied, "Had lost ball... broken my toes,
Rather than smashing me in the nose,
Would have changed-up my scene,
They'd call me "Dizzy Dean,"
Rather than calling me "Billy Loes."

Vegetation fire near Bolinas burns nearly 4 acres

Firefighters work to extinguish a vegetation fire Sunday near Bolinas. The fire started at about 3:15 a.m. and was contained nearly seven hours later. (Courtesy of Marin County Fire Department)

A vegetation fire burned three and a half acres near Bolinas early Sunday morning, a fire official said.

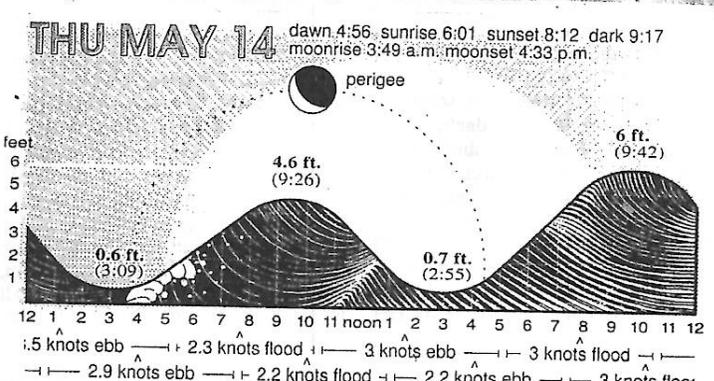

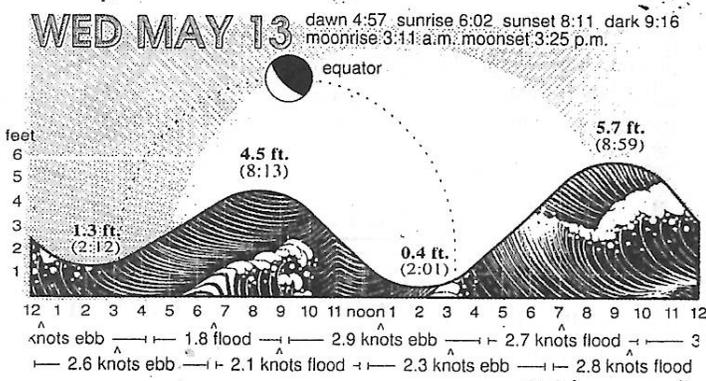

The fire started in a eucalyptus grove about a half-mile north of Agate Beach around 3:15 a.m. and spread to within 100 feet of the shoreline, according to Marin County fire Battalion Chief Mike Giannini. The fire was contained by 10 a.m., with no injuries or damage to buildings.

Giannini said the cause was under investigation but that the fire did not start "by natural causes."

The Marin County Fire Department was assisted by the Stinson Beach Fire Protection District, Bolinas Fire Protection District, National Park Service and Cal Fire, with more than 60 firefighters responding.

Eighth grader Monday!

Kyla, Ely, July, Ruby and Ulee made up the sweet group that got off the bus. With the majority of kids in Utah, it was nice to have these soon to be graduates for the afternoon. Treshon joined us at the library. We splurged and supported The Parkside by purchasing delicious Strauss ice cream cones while the Snack Bar still undergoes renovation. Ruby and Ulee dominated the stealth red light green light type game "One, Two, Three Soleil". They were complete sticklers for being completely frozen, calling us out at the slightest waiver of an arm. We then sat and revisited the highly entertaining rhythm game, sitting in a circle clapping and staying on the beat attempting to out verse each other.

We procured drinks at the market with the intention of only stopping in the library to say hi to Kerry on our way to the beach. There was no homework due this week. But upon our arrival, Kerry greeted us with a bag full of paracord to make bracelets out of. It challenged our brains a bit, but Ely finally got it and whipped out two awesome bracelets. They are called survival bracelets because they contain many feet of military cord to be used while you are out on the trail for shelter, a tournacet, a trap, or even starting a fire! Ely is excited to show the rest of the group how to make theirs next week.

We played many rounds of 'Three Flies' with our new Cobra frisbee and finished playing a heartfelt game of 'Essence'. Ruby thought of one person in the circle and everyone asked questions about this person such as: if this person were an animal, what animal would they be; if this person were a color, what color would they be; if this person were a superhero which superhero would they be. Everyone guessed who they thought she was describing. No one guessed July, but one can definitely see he is a polar bear, batman, color white, sunflower, surfer. We will definitely do more rounds of this game when we have time.

We all signed a card thanking a generous donor for their support, it was touching to read how everyone expressed their gratitude. Deep bow to Rachel at the Lunchbox who organized Bolinas Stinson Youth Groups contribution to Cuisine on the Green. Many thanks to all who showed up to help make the kids zone happen! Special shout out to Youth Group graduate Micaela and Ely who assisted the whole time. So proud!

Dear Reader - Do you want to support our Youth Group? We need your help! Send your tax-deductible check, for any amount, made out to the Bolinas Community Center, with Youth Group in the memo line. POBox 221. Bolinas 94924. Questions? Call 868- 0493.
